Yanks Take More German Towns

English Work During Alert— Close After A Direct Hit

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE

With American Armored Forces in Belgium, Sept. 7 (Delayed) (AP)—"Civilian life is normal in every respect and morale is high."

That sentence or some close parallel has concluded the reports the civil affairs officer of this armored division, Lt Col William E. Dahl, former Ft Worth Texas lawyer, has been making over and over again as this rampaging outfit broke through town after town in France and Belgium.

It is a particularly significant sentence, for this has been a spearhead division, and if great hunger and sickness had existed anywhere along the line, Dahl would have been told of it first, and in detail, because of the simple fact that his outfit was there first.

No Real Hunger

The fact is that this division has encountered almost no real hunger in all its march through France and Belgium and there have been only a few scattered appeals for food—more butter here, more meat there.

Civil affairs has an elaborate setup for bringing food to the needy—but that system hasn't yet been needed

Hunger there has been, and much of it, but for freedom and not for food; for liberty and not for bread.

Apart from the spiritual suffering and dread of the German boot, these people seem to have come out of the war generally unscarred.

From what I saw in France in the British, Canadian and American sectors, I believe the people have been eating at least as well and probably better than generally in England where I have spent a year, although this does not pretend to be an expert or exhaustive study, but only the objective impressions of one reporter.

Make Do With Little

Of course, there is the fact that the French and Belgians can take a little of this and a little of that and put together something that is amazingly palatable and nourishing Still I believe that of all the western Allies the English have put up with things longer with less complaining than anyone else.

After a really hellish bombing night in London an Englishman would remark to you quietly that last night had been "a bit of a do."

In France, and particularly in Paris, a civilian would go into transports of horror in describing some bombing he had suffered.

I have seen more civilian bombing damage—with all its parallel effect in civilian loss of life—in any one of several five-square block areas in London than I saw in the whole of Paris.

The farther you get from England in this campaign the more you come to admire the unobtrusive, uncomplaining ordinary English people—people who have suffered and suffered again, but who take it as it comes.

Work During Alert

You have recollections such as these:

> English girls of 19 and 20 working in the chill of February at pulling ship cables with bare hands so rough and reddened that sometimes they bled.
>
> The barber back in London who had been three times bombed out and now carried on in a little hole in the wall under a sign which read: "In case of an alert, we go on working. In case of a direct hit we are closed."
>
> Recollections of British and Canadian soldiers back on the other end when the greater part of the German weight in France was being met there—soldiers who by the very nature of things rarely were in the headlines but who went on attacking patiently and endlessly.

Tharp Is Fined $20 For Cruelty To Cow

Ernest Tharp, Gettysburg R. 5, was fined $20 and costs on one charge of cruelty to animals but had another similar charge dismissed at a hearing before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore Wednesday afternoon

Information in the charges had been filed by a member of the local sub-station of the state police. At a previous hearing two former farm hands on the Tharp farm testified that they had seen Tharp jab a cow with a pitch fork after the animal had kicked over a milk bucket. Justice Basehore fined Tharp on that count. Another information that a cow had been found beaten in a field was dismissed.

S.S. LEADERS AT JOINT MEETING IN CHURCH HERE

Teachers and officers of the Brethren, Presbyterian and Reformed church schools met in the Reformed church Wednesday evening for a period of meditation, with Miss Jeanne Spangler at the organ. This was followed by a talk by the Rev. Marshall E. Brenneman, director of Camp Nawakwa, who gave practical suggestions for better religious teaching.

He stated that those who work with "soul stuff" should feel as one preacher did that "anything worth doing was worth doing badly." He explained that "imperfectly as teachers are able to do their work by virtue of being human they should still work as hard as they can at their jobs, feeling that they are not 'the' teacher but 'a' teacher working under 'the' teacher, Jesus Christ." The Rev. Howard S. Fox, Reformed pastor, closed the meeting with prayer.

The Reformed board then met in its first fall business session, opening the meeting with a few minutes of silence in memory of a former teacher, James W. Gilbert, Jr., who lost his life recently in combat in France. The school placed flowers on the church altar last Sunday in his memory and dedicated a candle recently to burn in the church school in his memory for the duration.

Plan Rally Day

Miss Alice M. Snyder presented the report of the nominating committee which was approved and will be presented to the school for action next Sunday. Election of officers and promotion of classes will be held on September 24 which will also be observed as Harvest Home Festival when members are requested to bring gifts for Hoffman orphanage, Littlestown, and the Old Folks' home, Hagerstown.

Rally Day will be observed on October 1 with Miss Jeanne Spangler as chairman of the committee in charge of this program. The pastor will conduct the installation of new officers at this time and the annual offering from the classes for the building fund will be received.

The Children's League, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Myers, general children's superintendent, will resume Sunday afternoon sessions after October 1. Reports of committee chairmen and departmental superintendents were heard and the pastor spoke to the group. The committee to audit the books of the treasurer, Ray J. Kitzmiller, comprises Miss Dorothy Andrew, Mrs. Curtis Kime and W. Preston Hull The October meeting of the board will be held at the home of Mrs. Paul Myers.

Released On Bail In Chicken Thefts

Luke Frymyer, 35, Littlestown R. 2, and Merle W. Kemper, 20, a farm worker also of Littlestown R. 2, arrested last Friday and Saturday on burglary charges, were released from the county jail following the posting of $2,000 bail each today in the clerk of the courts' office.

The two lower Adams county men were jailed by Chief of Police H. S. Roberts, Littlestown, following his investigation of chicken thefts at the Charles J. Straley poultry farm along the Littlestown - Hanover highway during the last two and a half years Straley claimed he had lost 400 chickens in that time.

Frymyer and Kemper were released for the November term of court. Their bail was posted by William H. Kemper, near Littlestown, father of Merle Kemper.

In the informations, filed before Justice of the Peace Howard G. Blocher, Littlestown, the two men were accused of entering the Straley buildings last month and "at prior times."

LITTLESTOWN FOUNDRYMEN HEAR CHEMIST

Approximately 100 employes, service men and other guests at the third quarterly dinner meeting of the Littlestown Hardware and Foundry company heard Dr. Larry F. Livingston, of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and company tell Wednesday night of the hundreds of developments in chemical research and of the things to come from it later.

Doctor Livingston, manager of the extension division of the du Pont agricultural explosives department, also demonstrated a number of products made possible through chemurgy, the industrial use of agricultural raw materials. The meeting was held at St. John's Lutheran church, Littlestown.

Bernard E. Dillman, of the moulding department of the Littlestown company, chairman of the shop committee which planned the dinner, acted as toastmaster. Other members of the committee were: Philip Weaver, James Stair and Ralph Feeser, all of the machine department, and Richard Yingling, of the core room.

To Equip Boat

L. D. Snyder, secretary and treasurer of the company, also spoke briefly and described a plan by which the employes are going to attempt to completely equip for recreation purposes an LSM boat for the Navy. Under the plan, which he said had been approved by the employes' committee governing such actions, the workers will contribute money to supply the (LSM) with a complete ship's store, selling tooth paste, shaving cream, razor blades, and other items needed by the men, as well as sporting equipment and reading material. He asked for donations of baseball gloves and balls, mushball and ping pong equipment, and any books which the men would care to give.

Before the talks, five Littlestown service men home on furlough who were company guests at the meeting, were introduced. They were: William Ebaugh, James Donald Boyd and Harry Allen Harner, all seamen second class who recently completed their boot training at the Bainbridge Naval training station; Pvt. Gordon Shuey, and Cpl Bernard Stonesifer.

Other guests were the Rev. Kenneth James, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church; S. E. Breth and Mervin Fuss, of the Taneytown Chamber of Commerce; Prof Paul E. King, of the Littlestown high school, who showed motion pictures and Harrison Snyder, head of the county AAA committee.

Tells of Research

"Scientific research has been responsible for more improvements in living conditions than any other thing." Doctor Livingston said in opening his talk. "The results of that research have been felt in the past, are helping immeasurably in this war and will be even better in the future."

The beginning of chemical research in this country came during the last World War, he declared It was at that time we discovered

ROBERT LEWIS NAMES SPECIAL GIFTS' GROUP

Dean W. E. Tilberg, C. A. Wills, Mrs. Edmund W. Thomas, Fred G. Pfeffer, Fred Griest, S. Franklin Swope, Dr. J. Walter Coleman, Mares Sherman, J. I. Burgoon, James Shenk, Henry T. Bream and Mrs. Guyon Buehler.

"It will be impossible for committee members to make personal visits to all those contemplating making special gifts because of the restriction on gasoline.

"The extreme pressure of business and the extra war effort contributed by members means that committee members will need the cooperation of those contributing to the war fund. It will be especially appreciated if donors will notify any member of the committee of his or her special gifts' contribution.

"The October 1 deadline has been agreed upon so that the work of the special gifts committee can be completed in time to permit other war fund workers to conduct their campaign and eliminate any possibility of duplication of effort.

"Those who desire to make contributions anonymously may do so. Their names will not be divulged. All contributions are made payable to the Adams County War Fund, attention, Paul Kinsey, county chairman."

FIREMEN STUDY BY-LAW CHANGE

Two men were proposed for membership in the Gettysburg fire company and a motion calling for an amendment to the company by-laws which would allow a membership of 150 instead of the present 125 limit were the main items of business at the monthly meeting Wednesday evening at the engine house, East Middle street.

The men proposed for membership are Maurice [illegible] and Ivan I Breighner. The by-laws amendment is necessary, Secretary Raymond Menges said today, because of the number of new members who have joined the company to replace men now in the service. With 17 town firemen now in the armed forces, the roster stands at 138, 13 more than provided for by the company by-laws The new law would provide for that additional membership and also for other future members Final action on the proposal will be taken at the October meeting.

Treasurer George March reported that $1,000 had been realized so far by the company in its salvage drive throughout the town

Sgt. Joseph Irvin Back From Overseas

Sgt. Joseph Irvin, son of John C Irvin, West Middle street, is now at the Valley Forge General hospital, Phoenixville

Sgt. Irvin returned recently after spending about 16 months with a medical outfit overseas He participated in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns

Doughboys Advance With Artillery Aid; Enter Port Of Brest

By JAMES M. LONG

London, Sept. 14 (AP)—Several more German villages near captured Rotgen fell to the U. S First Army today while it drove into the dragon-tooth barriers of the Siegfried line and undercut the great Nazi communications center of Aachen.

Names of the villages were not disclosed by Supreme Headquarters. A Paris broadcast said one was Lammersdorf, four miles southeast of Rotgen.

The Germans themselves said the Americans were beating forward in a large scale offensive in the whole are around Aachen from Maastricht in Holland to the German frontier near Eupen in Belgium.

The U. S. Third Army of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton broke into the open once more around the French city of Nancy in a gain of at least 30 miles to Charmes on the Moselle river. The German communique said the Third Army had cut all the way to Luneville, 15 miles farther to the northeast, between Nancy and the Rhine. Nancy was threatened from the rear, as well as frontally.

Enter Brest

Some 500 miles behind the front line inside Germany, American troops smashed their way inside the long-besieged port of Brest. U. S. medium and dive bombers bombed the German garrison defenses for 50 minutes, despite poor weather which limited air activity elsewhere, and pilots reported seeing the Americans fighting the Nazis in the submarine pen area west of the city.

A security silence blacked out most specific news from the front. It shrouded news of an earlier incursion five miles deep inside Germany northwest of Trier, perhaps the oldest town in all the Reich. Nor was any announcement from headquarters on Allied progress at two other points where the German boundary had been reached within shelling range of the Siegfried defenses.

It was emphasized, however, that the blackout certainly did not imply any reverses.

On the left American flank, Lt. Gen Courtney H. Hodges' U. S. First Army invaded the Netherlands at a new spot—the 15-mile wide appendix province of Limburg where a flanking threat to Aachen was poised from the north.

Resistance Is Weak

Resistance was surprisingly weak. Field dispatches said this may indicate the Germans plan their major stand on the Rhine—some 40 miles to the east in this sector.

The Americans rolled out of Belgium and into the Reich in long dusty columns. Ahead of them on the path to Berlin, now about 320 airline miles away, was probably many a hard battle, but the enemy quickly yielded the first border outposts of the vaunted west wall.

The village of Rotgen, 10 miles southeast of Aachen, was the first German municipality reported occupied. It fell two days ago. Associated Press War Correspondent William Smith White said the First Army troops at once turned their guns eastward on other German positions.

More Enter Holland

Both the British Second and American First armies have now crossed from Belgium into Holland, Supreme Headquarters announced today.

One crossing presumably was made by the British north of Bourg-Leopold in development of the Albert canal bridgehead. The communique said the frontier also had been left behind by other forces advancing in the Maastrict area to the south—a region where the American left wing previously had been reported within a mile of the border.

The First Army reported further gains in Luxembourg, northeast of the Duchy's capital—a widening of the position from which the German frontier first was crossed northwest of Trier.

Yanks Gain Near Aachen

The Yanks yesterday won hill positions overlooking Aachen, a city of 160,000 two miles inside the border on the main rail and highway routes between Liege, in Belgium, and the Rhineland industrial stronghold of Cologne.

The Paris radio said today that Allied columns plunging into Germany had passed Lammersdorf, five miles from the border and 12 miles southeast of Aachen, in an advance beyond the Rotgen area.

There was no confirmation from any other source.

The Germans, who have acknowledged the fall of one Siegfried line fortification, said in a Berlin broadcast this morning that the Americans, "supported by very powerful airforces." were attacking on "a broad front" in the Aachen-Rotgen sector with "very bitter fighting raging at the Siegfried line."

This broadcast report by the German Transocean News agency said the Americans in the Luxembourg area to the south had "pushed out three wedges" but claimed that "no important changes in the front line resulted."

BULLETINS

Rome, Sept. 14 (AP) — Col John H. (Jock) Whitney of New York, captured by the Germans in southern France Aug. 21, has escaped and returned to the Mediterranean air force.

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today that an enemy order captured from the headquarters of the German 19th Army, dated June 19, "shows that the Germans are now becoming aware of the dangers of perpetrating cruelties and harsh injustice on civilian populations."

London, Sept. 14 (AP)—Ernst Thaelmann, the German Communist leader, was killed in an Allied air attack on the Buchenwalde concentration camp near Weimar Aug. 28, the German radio asserted tonight.

Red Armies Probe East Prussia Area

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Moscow, Sept. 14 (AP)—Scouts from Gen G F Zakharov's Second White Russian Army probed today for a bridgehead across the Narew river after sweeping through the shell-cratered Nazi Fortress of Lomza and advancing to within 14 miles of the southern border of East Prussia.

Col. Gen. Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukrainian Army in a new offensive reached the Czechoslovak border on a 25-mile front below captured Krosno His troops were within 50 miles of Kosice, the most important town in Hungarian-held Czechoslovak territory

(A Reuters dispatch from Moscow today said it was believed there that Cossack Cavalry patrols crossed the border into Czechoslovakia)

Contact With Tito

The advance raised hopes for a quick juncture with Slovak patriot forces scattered through the Carpathians

(A broadcast communique from Marshal Tito's partisan headquarters said his troops had captured Negotin in Yugoslavia six miles from the Romanian and Bulgarian borders and had made contact with the Red Army)

Front dispatches said [illegible] Nazi armored forces fell back chaotically to the northern elbow of the Narew river, pursued closely by Russian tanks carrying swarms of tommygunners.

(The Berlin radio acknowledged today that Russian troops have penetrated Praga, eastern suburb of Warsaw.)

Take 30 Towns

Gen. Zakharov's relentless attacks northeast of Warsaw won more than 30 settlements, and increased steadily the threat of outflanking the Polish capital Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's forces, with the help of Gen Zygmunt Berling's First Polish Army, continued to wage a stubborn fight for the city.

Russian triumphs in mountain warfare, which included the capture of more than 100 settlements by Gen. Petrov's forces, created still another terror for the Hungarians, who already are in desperate straits in Transylvania.

Hungarian and German units lost Osorhei, 45 miles southeast of the Transylvanian capital of Cluj, and were retreating in confusion from the eastern Carpathian defenses breached by the Russian capture of Campulung in northeastern Romania

Clair D. Cline Is Made A Corporal

Promotion of Pfc. Clair D Cline, from Biglerville, to the rank of corporal was announced here by Colonel Herbert L. Grymes, commanding officer of the 3384th Service Unit, New Cumberland

Corporal Cline was employed by Rice, Trew & Rice Co., Biglerville, prior to his induction into the Army in November, 1941 He served in Alaska for two years prior to being stationed at New Cumberland

French Smash Along Marne; Near Belfort

By SID FEDER

Rome, Sept. 14 (AP)—French troops smashed up the Marne river today to within 15 miles of Chaumont, headquarters of Gen. John J. Pershing in the first World War. The Allied assault on the Belfort gateway to southwestern Germany drew nearer with the American entrance into Villersexel and the fall of Pont de Roide to the French.

The break into Villersexel against apparently lessening resistance everywhere along the entire 120-mile front, except in the area of the Swiss frontier, put the Americans less than 20 miles west of Belfort.

Pont de Roide, 16 miles south of Belfort, was cleared of the enemy after a two-day street-by-street struggle, and the French fanned out and took nearby Autechaux-Roide.

The Germans, battling bitterly in an effort to halt the southern spear of the three-pronged attack on the Belfort Gap, last night started a strong counterattack. For the second day in a row the Germans threw tanks into the counterthrust.

Opposition Light

The northward plunging French on the left flank of the Seventh Army front found opposition light for the third straight day and overran Langres, a town of 6,000 and an important communications center 65 miles southeast of Nancy, then pushed ahead toward Chaumont.

Southeast of Langres, where enemy pockets remain to be cleared from the Plateau de Langres on the far southwestern edges of the Doubs valley, the French occupied the village of Genevrieres without resistance, and cleared the last snipers out of Gray, a town of 6,000 on the upper Saone river.

Americans maintained a steady, swift advance across the wide reaches of the flatlands area of Vesoul, which includes the valleys of the Doubs, Ognon and Saone.

Tharp Is Fined $20 For Cruelty To Cow

Ernest Tharp, Gettysburg R. 5, was fined $20 and costs on one charge of cruelty to animals but had another similar charge dismissed at a hearing before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore Wednesday afternoon.

Information in the charges had been filed by a member of the local sub-station of the state police. At a previous hearing two former farm hands on the Tharp farm testified that they had seen Tharp jab a cow with a pitch fork after the animal had kicked over a milk bucket. Justice Basehore fined Tharp on that count. Another information that a cow had been found beaten in a field was dismissed.

S.S. LEADERS AT JOINT MEETING IN CHURCH HERE

Teachers and officers of the Brethren, Presbyterian and Reformed church schools met in the Reformed church Wednesday evening for a period of meditation, with Miss Jeanne Spangler at the organ. This was followed by a talk by the Rev. Marshall E. Brenneman, director of Camp Nawakwa, who gave practical suggestions for better religious teaching.

He stated that those who work with "soul stuff" should feel as one preacher did that "anything worth doing was worth doing badly." He explained that "imperfectly as teachers are able to do their work by virtue of being human they should still work as hard as they can at their jobs, feeling that they are not 'the' teacher but 'a' teacher working under 'the' teacher, Jesus Christ." The Rev. Howard S. Fox, Reformed pastor, closed the meeting with prayer.

The Reformed board then met in its first fall business session, opening the meeting with a few minutes of silence in memory of a former teacher, James W. Gilbert, Jr., who lost his life recently in combat in France. The school placed flowers on the church altar last Sunday in his memory and dedicated a candle recently to burn in the church school in his memory for the duration.

Plan Rally Day

Miss Alice M. Snyder presented the report of the nominating committee which was approved and will be presented to the school for action next Sunday. Election of officers and promotion of classes will be held on September 24 which will also be observed as Harvest Home Festival when members are requested to bring gifts for Hoffman orphanage, Littlestown, and the Old Folks' home, Hagerstown.

Rally Day will be observed on October 1 with Miss Jeanne Spangler as chairman of the committee in charge of this program. The pastor will conduct the installation of new officers at this time and the annual offering from the classes for the building fund will be received.

The Children's League, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Myers, general children's superintendent, will resume Sunday afternoon sessions after October 1. Reports of committee chairmen and departmental superintendents were heard and the pastor spoke to the group. The committee to audit the books of the treasurer, Ray J. Kitzmiller, comprises Miss Dorothy Andrew, Mrs. Curtis Kime and W. Preston Hull. The October meeting of the board will be held at the home of Mrs. Paul Myers.

Released On Bail In Chicken Thefts

Luke Frymyer, 35, Littlestown R. 2, and Merle W. Kemper, 20, a farm worker also of Littlestown R. 2, arrested last Friday and Saturday on burglary charges, were released from the county jail following the posting of $2,000 bail each today in the clerk of the courts' office.

The two lower Adams county men were jailed by Chief of Police H. S. Roberts, Littlestown, following his investigation of chicken thefts at the Charles J. Straley poultry farm along the Littlestown - Hanover highway during the last two and a half years. Straley claimed he had lost 400 chickens in that time.

Frymyer and Kemper were released for the November term of court. Their bail was posted by William H. Kemper, near Littlestown, father of Merle Kemper.

In the informations, filed before Justice of the Peace Howard G. Blocher, Littlestown, the two men were accused of entering the Straley buildings last month and "at prior times."

LITTLESTOWN FOUNDRYMEN HEAR CHEMIST

Approximately 100 employes, service men and other guests at the third quarterly dinner meeting of the Littlestown Hardware and Foundry company heard Dr. Larry F. Livingston, of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and company tell Wednesday night of the hundreds of developments in chemical research and of the things to come from it later.

Doctor Livingston, manager of the extension division of the du Pont agricultural explosives department, also demonstrated a number of products made possible through chemurgy, the industrial use of agricultural raw materials. The meeting was held at St. John's Lutheran church, Littlestown.

Bernard E. Dillman, of the moulding department of the Littlestown company, chairman of the shop committee which planned the dinner, acted as toastmaster. Other members of the committee were Philip Weaver, James Stair and Ralph Feeser, all of the machine department, and Richard Yingling, of the core room.

To Equip Boat

L. D. Snyder, secretary and treasurer of the company, also spoke briefly and described a plan by which the employes are going to attempt to completely equip for recreation purposes an LSM boat for the Navy. Under the plan, which he said had been approved by the employes' committee governing such actions, the workers will contribute money to supply the (LSM) with a complete ship's store, selling tooth paste, shaving cream, razor blades, and other items needed by the men, as well as sporting equipment and reading material. He asked for donations of baseball gloves and balls, mushball and ping pong equipment, and any books which the men would care to give.

Before the talks, five Littlestown service men home on furlough who were company guests at the meeting, were introduced. They were: William Ebaugh, James Donald Boyd and Harry Allen Harner, all seamen second class who recently completed their boot training at the Bainbridge Naval training station; Pvt. Gordon Shuey, and Cpl. Bernard Stonesifer.

Other guests were the Rev. Kenneth James, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church; S. E. Breth and Mervin Fuss, of the Taneytown Chamber of Commerce; Prof. Paul E. King, of the Littlestown high school, who showed motion pictures and Harrison Snyder, head of the county AAA committee.

Tells of Research

"Scientific research has been responsible for more improvements in living conditions than any other thing," Doctor Livingston said in opening his talk. "The results of that research have been felt in the past, are helping immeasurably in this war and will be even better in the future."

The beginning of chemical research in this country came during the last World War, he declared. It was at that time we discovered

COLLEGE GRAD DIES IN FRANCE

Word was received here Wednesday of the death in action in France August 21 of Lt. Ralph L. Stehley, Altoona, a graduate of Gettysburg college with the class of 1943.

Lieutenant Stehley, an honor man in college, had been in France since shortly after D-Day, June 6. He was attached to an infantry unit. Graduating from college with highest class honors, Stehley was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, and president of four other honorary societies on the campus. He was a member of the staff of the annual and was managing editor of the college weekly, "The Gettysburgian."

Following his graduation from Gettysburg, he entered the Army, taking his basic training at Camp Croft, South Carolina. He later was graduated from the Officer's Candidate School at Fort Benning, Georgia. He visited several times with friends in Gettysburg before going overseas.

Lieutenant Stehley was engaged in special work in England before going to the continent with the infantry. He was a son of Mrs. Florence Gibbons Stehley, of Altoona. His father, Jacob H. Stehley, died in 1936.

Members of the Adams county Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet for their annual convention at the Gettysburg Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon.

One business session will be held, starting at 2 o'clock. Judge W. C. Sheely will be the speaker, giving a talk on "Juvenile Delinquency."

Miss Edna Albert, Gardners, the president of the society, will preside at the meeting and Mrs. Robert Reindollar, of Fairfield will be in charge of the devotions. During the business meeting new officers will be elected for the coming year. The meeting will be open to the public.

Other officers of the county organization are: Mrs. Calvin Leer, York Springs, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Knox, Fairfield, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. E. Berkey, Gettysburg, recording secretary, and Mrs. Blaine Bushey, Arendtsville, treasurer.

ROBERT LEWIS NAMES SPECIAL GIFTS' GROUP

Dean W. E. Tilberg, C. A. Wills, Mrs. Edmund W. Thomas, Fred G. Pfeffer, Fred Griest, S. Franklin Swope, Dr. J. Walter Coleman, Mares Sherman, J. I. Burgoon, James Shenk, Henry T. Bream and Mrs. Guyon Buehler.

Chairman Lewis announced that the committee members have been instructed to complete their work by October 1, and issued an appeal to all countians to cooperate by making their special contributions on or before that date.

"It will be impossible for committee members to make personal visits to all those contemplating making special gifts because of the restriction on gasoline.

Need Cooperation

"The extreme pressure of business and the extra war effort contributed by members means that committee members will need the cooperation of those contributing to the war fund. It will be especially appreciated if donors will notify any member of the committee of his or her special gifts' contribution.

"The October 1 deadline has been agreed upon so that the work of the special gifts committee can be completed in time to permit other war fund workers to conduct their campaign and eliminate any possibility of duplication of effort.

"Those who desire to make contributions anonymously may do so. Their names will not be divulged. All contributions are made payable to the Adams County War Fund, attention, Paul Kinsey, county chairman."

FIREMEN STUDY BY-LAW CHANGE

Two men were proposed for membership in the Gettysburg fire company and a motion calling for an amendment to the company by-laws which would allow a membership of 150 instead of the present 125 limit were the main items of business at the monthly meeting Wednesday evening at the engine house, East Middle street.

The men proposed for membership are Maurice Shindledecker and Ivan I. Breighner. The by-laws amendment is necessary, Secretary Raymond Menges said today, because of the number of new members who have joined the company to replace men now in the service. With 17 town firemen now in the armed forces, the roster stands at 138, 13 more than provided for by the company by-laws. The new law would provide for that additional membership and also for other future members. Final action on the proposal will be taken at the October meeting.

Treasurer George March reported that $1,000 had been realized so far by the company in its salvage drives throughout the town.

Sgt. Joseph Irvin Back From Overseas

Sgt. Joseph Irvin, son of John C. Irvin, West Middle street, is now at the Valley Forge General hospital, Phoenixville.

Sgt. Irvin returned recently after spending about 16 months with a medical outfit overseas. He participated in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns.

Doughboys Advance With Artillery Aid; Enter Port Of Brest

By JAMES M. LONG

London, Sept. 14 (AP)—Several more German villages near captured Rotgen fell to the U. S. First Army today while it drove into the dragon-tooth barriers of the Siegfried line and undercut the great Nazi communications center of Aachen.

Names of the villages were not disclosed by Supreme Headquarters. A Paris broadcast said one was Lammersdorf, four miles southeast of Rotgen.

The Germans themselves said the Americans were beating forward in a large scale offensive in the whole arc around Aachen from Maastricht in Holland to the German frontier near Eupen in Belgium.

The U. S. Third Army of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton broke into the open once more around the French city of Nancy in a gain of at least 30 miles to Charmes on the Moselle river. The German communique said the Third Army had cut all the way to Luneville, 15 miles farther to the northeast, between Nancy and the Rhine. Nancy was threatened from the rear, as well as frontally.

Enter Brest

Some 500 miles behind the front line inside Germany, American troops smashed their way inside the long-besieged port of Brest. U. S. medium and dive bombers bombed the German garrison defenses for 50 minutes, despite poor weather which limited air activity elsewhere, and pilots reported seeing the Americans fighting the Nazis in the submarine pen area west of the city.

A security silence blacked out most specific news from the front. It shrouded news of an earlier incursion five miles deep inside Germany northwest of Trier, perhaps the oldest town in all the Reich. Nor was any announcement from headquarters on Allied progress at two other points where the German boundary had been reached within shelling range of the Siegfried defenses.

It was emphasized, however, that the blackout certainly did not imply any reverses.

On the left American flank, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' U. S. First Army invaded the Netherlands at a new spot—the 15-mile wide appendix province of Limburg where a flanking threat to Aachen was poised from the north.

Resistance Is Weak

Resistance was surprisingly weak. Field dispatches said this may indicate the Germans plan their major stand on the Rhine—some 40 miles to the east in this sector.

The Americans rolled out of Belgium and into the Reich in long dusty columns. Ahead of them on the path to Berlin, now about 320 airline miles away, was probably many a hard battle, but the enemy quickly yielded the first border outposts of the vaunted west wall.

The village of Rotgen, 10 miles southeast of Aachen, was the first German municipality reported occupied. It fell two days ago. Associated Press War Correspondent William Smith White said the First Army troops at once turned their guns eastward on other German positions.

More Enter Holland

Both the British Second and American First armies have now crossed from Belgium into Holland, Supreme Headquarters announced today.

One crossing presumably was made by the British north of Bourg-Leopold in development of the Albert canal bridgehead. The communique said the frontier also had been left behind by other forces advancing in the Maastrict area to the south—a region where the American left wing previously had been reported within a mile of the border.

The First Army reported further gains in Luxembourg, northeast of the Cuchy's capital—a widening of the position from which the German frontier first was crossed northwest of Trier.

Yanks Gain Near Aachen

The Yanks yesterday won hill positions overlooking Aachen, a city of 160,000 two miles inside the border on the main rail and highway routes between Liege, in Belgium, and the Rhineland industrial stronghold of Cologne.

The Paris radio said today that Allied columns plunging into Germany had passed Lammersdorf, five miles from the border and 12 miles southeast of Aachen, in an advance beyond the Rotgen area.

There was no confirmation from any other source.

The Germans, who have acknowledged the fall of one Siegfried line fortification, said in a Berlin broadcast this morning that the Americans, "supported by very powerful airforces," were attacking on "a broad front" in the Aachen-Rotgen sector with "very bitter fighting raging at the Siegfried line."

This broadcast report by the German Transocean News agency said the Americans in the Luxembourg area to the south had "pushed out three wedges" but claimed that "no important changes in the front line resulted."

BULLETINS

Rome, Sept. 14 (AP) — Col John H. (Jock) Whitney of New York, captured by the Germans in southern France Aug. 21, has escaped and returned to the Mediterranean air force.

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today that an enemy order captured from the headquarters of the German 19th Army, dated June 19, "shows that the Germans are now becoming aware of the dangers of perpetrating cruelties and harsh injustice on civilian populations."

London, Sept. 14 (AP)—Ernst Thaelmann, the German Communist leader, was killed in an Allied air attack on the Buchenwalde concentration camp near Weimar Aug. 28, the German radio asserted tonight.

Red Armies Probe East Prussia Area

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Moscow, Sept. 14 (AP)—Scouts from Gen. G. F. Zakharov's Second White Russian Army probed today for a bridgehead across the Narew river after sweeping through the shell-cratered Nazi Fortress of Lomza and advancing to within 14 miles of the southern border of East Prussia.

Col. Gen. Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukrainian Army in a new offensive reached the Czechoslovak border on a 25-mile front below captured Krosno. His troops were within 50 miles of Kosice, the most important town in Hungarian-held Czechoslovak territory.

(A Reuters dispatch from Moscow today said it was believed there that Cossack Cavalry patrols crossed the border into Czechoslovakia.)

Contact With Tito

The advance raised hopes for a quick juncture with Slovak patriot forces scattered through the Carpathians.

(A broadcast communique from Marshal Tito's partisan headquarters said his troops had captured Negotin in Yugoslavia six miles from the Romanian and Bulgarian borders, and had made contact with the Red Army.)

Front dispatches said mauled Nazi armored forces fell back chaotically to the northern elbow of the Narew river, pursued closely by Russian tanks carrying swarms of tommygunners.

(The Berlin radio acknowledged today that Russian troops have penetrated Praga, eastern suburb of Warsaw.)

Take 30 Towns

Gen. Zakharov's relentless attacks northeast of Warsaw won more than 30 settlements, and increased steadily the threat of outflanking the Polish capital. Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's forces, with the help of Gen. Zygmunt Berling's First Polish Army, continued to wage a stubborn fight for the city.

Russian triumphs in mountain warfare, which included the capture of more than 100 settlements by Gen. Petrov's forces, created still another terror for the Hungarians, who already are in desperate straits in Transylvania.

Hungarian and German units lost Osorhei, 45 miles southeast of the Transylvanian capital of Cluj, and were retreating in confusion from the eastern Carpathian defenses breached by the Russian capture of Campulung in northeastern Romania.

Clair D. Cline Is Made A Corporal

Promotion of Pfc. Clair D. Cline, from Biglerville, to the rank of corporal was announced here by Colonel Herbert L. Grymes, commanding officer of the 3384th Service Unit, New Cumberland.

Corporal Cline was employed by Rice, Trew & Rice Co., Biglerville, prior to his induction into the Army in November, 1941. He served in Alaska for two years prior to being stationed at New Cumberland.

French Smash Along Marne; Near Belfort

By SID FEDER

Rome, Sept. 14 (AP)—French troops smashed up the Marne river today to within 15 miles of Chaumont, headquarters of Gen. John J. Pershing in the first World War. The Allied assault on the Belfort gateway to southwestern Germany drew nearer with the American entrance into Villersexel and the fall of Pont de Roide to the French.

The break into Villersexel against apparently lessening resistance everywhere along the entire 120-mile front, except in the area of the Swiss frontier, put the Americans less than 20 miles west of Belfort.

Pont de Roide, 16 miles south of Belfort, was cleared of the enemy after a two-day street-by-street struggle, and the French fanned out and took nearby Autechaux-Roide.

The Germans, battling bitterly in an effort to halt the southern spear of the three-pronged attack on the Belfort Gap, last night started a strong counterattack. For the second day in a row the Germans threw tanks into the counterthrust.

Opposition Light

The northward plunging French on the left flank of the Seventh Army front found opposition light for the third straight day and overran Langres, a town of 6,000 and an important communications center 65 miles southeast of Nancy, then pushed ahead toward Chaumont.

Southeast of Langres, where enemy pockets remain to be cleared from the Plateau de Langres on the far southwestern edges of the Doubs valley, the French occupied the village of Genevrieres without resistance, and cleared the last snipers out of Gray, a town of 6,000 on the upper Saone river.

Americans maintained a steady, swift advance across the wide reaches of the flatlands area of Vesoul, which includes the valleys of the Doubs, Ognon and Saone.

English Work During Alert—Close After A Direct Hit

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE

With American Armored Forces in Belgium, Sept. 7 (Delayed) (AP)—"Civilian life is normal in every respect and morale is high."

That sentence or some close parallel has concluded the reports the civil affairs officer of this armored division, Lt. Col. William E. Dahl, former Ft. Worth Texas lawyer, has been making over and over again as this rampaging outfit broke through town after town in France and Belgium.

It is a particularly significant sentence, for this has been a spearhead division, and if great hunger and sickness had existed anywhere along the line, Dahl would have been told of it first, and in detail, because of the simple fact that his outfit was there first.

No Real Hunger

The fact is that this division has encountered almost no real hunger in all its march through France and Belgium and there have been only a few scattered appeals for food—more butter here, more meat there.

Civil affairs has an elaborate setup for bringing food to the needy—but that system hasn't yet been needed.

Hunger there has been, and much of it, but for freedom and not for food; for liberty and not for bread.

Apart from the spiritual suffering and dread of the German boot, these people seem to have come out of the war generally unscarred.

From what I saw in France in the British, Canadian and American sectors, I believe the people have been eating at least as well and probably better than generally in England where I have spent a year, although this does not pretend to be an expert or exhaustive study, but only the objective impressions of one reporter.

Make Do With Little

Of course, there is the fact that the French and Belgians can take a little of this and a little of that and put together something that is amazingly palatable and nourishing. Still I believe that of all the western Allies the English have put up with things longer with less complaining than anyone else.

After a really hellish bombing night in London an Englishman would remark to you quietly that last night had been "a bit of a do."

In France, and particularly in Paris, a civilian would go into transports of horror in describing some bombing he had suffered.

I have seen more civilian bombing damage—with all its parallel effect in civilian loss of life—in any one of several five-square block areas in London than I saw in the whole of Paris.

The farther you get from England in this campaign the more you come to admire the unobtrusive, uncomplaining ordinary English people—people who have suffered and suffered again, but who take it as it comes.

Work During Alert

You have recollections such as these:

English girls of 19 and 20 working in the chill of February at pulling ship cables with bare hands so rough and reddened that sometimes they bled.

The barber back in London who had been three times bombed out and now carried on in a little hole in the wall under a sign which read: "In case of an alert, we go on working. In case of a direct hit we are closed."

Recollections of British and Canadian soldiers back on the other end when the greater part of the German weight in France was being met there—soldiers who by the very nature of things rarely were in the headlines but who went on attacking patiently and endlessly.

COUNTIANS WED SEPTEMBER 10

Pvt. Wolfe graduated from Biglerville high school in 1939 and was employed at the Glenn L. Martin plant, Baltimore, prior to his induction into the Army. He is now taking his basic training at Camp Blanding, Fla.

Mrs. Wolfe will remain with her husband in Florida for the present.

EMMITSBURG OFFICER TELLS OF IRAN TRIP

Emmitsburg. — Lieut. F. Wade Chrismer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Chrismer, 103 East Main street, Emmitsburg. Mrs. Chrismer and their two children reside with his parents. He is serving in a Quartermaster Truck Company in Iran, and the following letter to Mrs. Chrismer relates to his arrival in that country:

"I meant to write you sooner about my first visit to a Persian town, but the excitment attending my transfer here did not give me time. Now I am glad I did not because I can describe the trip here on the train and by truck which certainly was some experience. Jim Jordan would cry his Irish eyes out if he had to run one of these Persian jobs, but the things are efficient, at least, for we did arrive, and over country that you would never see back home.

"The roadbed was surprisingly smooth, but listen to this which I quote from a guidebook on the country, 'to cross these mountains (which resemble our Rockies), the Trans-Iranian Railway requires 224 tunnels and 4,102 bridges in the course of its 870 miles from the

"Scientific research has been responsible for more improvements in living conditions than any other thing," Doctor Livingston said in opening his talk. "The results of that research have been felt in the past, are helping immeasurably in this war and will be even better in the future."

The beginning of chemical research in this country came during the last World War, he declared. It was at that time we discovered

COLLEGE GRAD DIES IN FRANCE

Word was received here Wednesday of the death in action in France August 21 of Lt. Ralph L. Stehley, Altoona, a graduate of Gettysburg college with the class of 1943.

Lieutenant Stehley, an honor man in college, had been in France since shortly after D-Day, June 6. He was attached to an infantry unit. Graduating from college with highest class honors, Stehley was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, and president of four other honorary societies on the campus. He was a member of the staff of the annual and was managing editor of the college weekly, "The Gettysburgian."

Following his graduation from Gettysburg, he entered the Army, taking his basic training at Camp Croft, South Carolina. He later was graduated from the Officer's Candidate School at Fort Benning, Georgia. He visited several times with friends in Gettysburg before going overseas.

Lieutenant Stehley was engaged in special work in England before going to the continent with the infantry. He was a son of Mrs. Florence Gibbons Stehley, of Altoona. His father, Jacob H. Stehley, died in 1936.

ROBERT LEWIS NAMES SPECIAL GIFTS' GROUP

Dean W. E. Tilberg, C. A. Wills, Mrs. Edmund W. Thomas, Fred G. Pfeffer, Fred Griest, S. Franklin Swope, Dr. J. Walter Coleman, Mares Sherman, J. I. Burgoon, James Shenk, Henry T. Bream and Mrs. Guyon Buehler.

Chairman Lewis announced that the committee members have been instructed to complete their work by October 1, and issued an appeal to all countians to cooperate by making their special contributions on or before that date.

"It will be impossible for committee members to make personal visits to all those contemplating making special gifts because of the restriction on gasoline.

Need Cooperation

"The extreme pressure of business and the extra war effort contributed by members means that committee members will need the cooperation of those contributing to the war fund. It will be especially appreciated if donors will notify any member of the committee of his or her special gifts' contribution.

"The October 1 deadline has been agreed upon so that the work of the special gifts committee can be completed in time to permit other war fund workers to conduct their campaign and eliminate any possibility of duplication of effort.

"Those who desire to make contributions anonymously may do so. Their names will not be divulged. All contributions are made payable to the Adams County War Fund, attention, Paul Kinsey, county chairman."

FIREMEN STUDY BY-LAW CHANGE

Two men were proposed for membership in the Gettysburg fire company and a motion calling for an amendment to the company by-laws which would allow a membership of 150 instead of the present 125 limit were the main items of business at the monthly meeting Wednesday evening at the engine house, East Middle street.

The men proposed for membership are Maurice Shindledecker and Ivan I. Breighner. The by-laws amendment is necessary, Secretary Raymond Menges said today, because of the number of new members who have joined the company to replace men now in the service. With 17 town firemen now in the armed forces, the roster stands at 138, 13 more than provided for by the company by-laws. The new law would provide for that additional membership and also for other future members. Final action on the proposal will be taken at the October meeting.

Treasurer George March reported that $1,000 had been realized so far by the company in its salvage drives throughout the town.

Sgt. Joseph Irvin Back From Overseas

Sgt. Joseph Irvin, son of John C. Irvin, West Middle street, is now at the Valley Forge General hospital, Phoenixville.

Sgt. Irvin returned recently after spending about 16 months with a medical outfit overseas. He participated in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns.

Doughboys Advance With Artillery Aid; Enter Port Of Brest

By JAMES M. LONG

London, Sept. 14 (AP)—Several more German villages near captured Rotgen fell to the U. S. First Army today while it drove into the dragon-tooth barriers of the Siegfried line and undercut the great Nazi communications center of Aachen.

Names of the villages were not disclosed by Supreme Headquarters. A Paris broadcast said one was Lammersdorf, four miles southeast of Rotgen.

The Germans themselves said the Americans were beating forward in a large scale offensive in the whole arc around Aachen from Maastricht in Holland to the German frontier near Eupen in Belgium.

The U. S. Third Army of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton broke into the open once more around the French city of Nancy in a gain of at least 30 miles to Charmes on the Moselle river. The German communique said the Third Army had cut all the way to Luneville, 15 miles farther to the northeast, between Nancy and the Rhine. Nancy was threatened from the rear, as well as frontally.

Enter Brest

Some 500 miles behind the front line inside Germany, American troops smashed their way inside the long-besieged port of Brest. U. S. medium and dive bombers bombed the German garrison defenses for 50 minutes, despite poor weather which limited air activity elsewhere, and pilots reported seeing the Americans fighting the Nazis in the submarine pen area west of the city.

A security silence blacked out most specific news from the front. It shrouded news of an earlier incursion five miles deep inside Germany northwest of Trier, perhaps the oldest town in all the Reich. Nor was any announcement from headquarters on Allied progress at two other points where the German boundary had been reached within shelling range of the Siegfried defenses.

It was emphasized, however, that the blackout certainly did not imply any reverses.

On the left American flank, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' U. S. First Army invaded the Netherlands at a new spot—the 15-mile wide appendix province of Limburg where a flanking threat to Aachen was poised from the north.

Resistance Is Weak

Resistance was surprisingly weak. Field dispatches said this may indicate the Germans plan their major stand on the Rhine—some 40 miles to the east in this sector.

The Americans rolled out of Belgium and into the Reich in long dusty columns. Ahead of them on the path to Berlin, now about 320 airline miles away, was probably many a hard battle, but the enemy quickly yielded the first border outposts of the vaunted west wall.

The village of Rotgen, 10 miles southeast of Aachen, was the first German municipality reported occupied. It fell two days ago. Associated Press War Correspondent William Smith White said the First Army troops at once turned their guns eastward on other German positions.

More Enter Holland

Both the British Second and American First armies have now crossed from Belgium into Holland, Supreme Headquarters announced today.

One crossing presumably was made by the British north of Bourg-Leopold in development of the Albert canal bridgehead. The communique said the frontier also had been left behind by other forces advancing in the Maastrict area to the south—a region where the American left wing previously had been reported within a mile of the border.

The First Army reported further gains in Luxembourg, northeast of the Cuchy's capital—a widening of the position from which the German frontier first was crossed northwest of Trier.

Yanks Gain Near Aachen

The Yanks yesterday won hill positions overlooking Aachen, a city of 160,000 two miles inside the border on the main rail and highway routes between Liege, in Belgium, and the Rhineland industrial stronghold of Cologne.

The Paris radio said today that Allied columns plunging into Germany had passed Lammersdorf, five miles from the border and 12 miles southeast of Aachen, in an advance beyond the Rotgen area.

There was no confirmation from any other source.

The Germans, who have acknowledged the fall of one Siegfried line fortification, said in a Berlin broadcast this morning that the Americans, "supported by very powerful airforces," were attacking on "a broad front" in the Aachen-Rotgen sector with "very bitter fighting raging at the Siegfried line."

This broadcast report by the German Transocean News agency said the Americans in the Luxembourg area to the south had "pushed out three wedges" but claimed that "no important changes in the front line resulted."

BULLETINS

Rome, Sept. 14 (AP) — Col John H. (Jock) Whitney of New York, captured by the Germans in southern France Aug. 21, has escaped and returned to the Mediterranean air force.

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today that an enemy order captured from the headquarters of the German 19th Army, dated June 19, "shows that the Germans are now becoming aware of the dangers of perpetrating cruelties and harsh injustice on civilian populations."

London, Sept. 14 (AP)—Ernst Thaelmann, the German Communist leader, was killed in an Allied air attack on the Buchenwalde concentration camp near Weimar Aug. 28, the German radio asserted tonight.

Red Armies Probe East Prussia Area

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Moscow, Sept. 14 (AP)—Scouts from Gen. G. F. Zakharov's Second White Russian Army probed today for a bridgehead across the Narew river after sweeping through the shell-cratered Nazi Fortress of Lomza and advancing to within 14 miles of the southern border of East Prussia.

Col. Gen. Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukrainian Army in a new offensive reached the Czechoslovak border on a 25-mile front below captured Krosno. His troops were within 50 miles of Kosice, the most important town in Hungarian-held Czechoslovak territory.

(A Reuters dispatch from Moscow today said it was believed there that Cossack Cavalry patrols crossed the border into Czechoslovakia.)

Contact With Tito

The advance raised hopes for a quick juncture with Slovak patriot forces scattered through the Carpathians.

(A broadcast communique from Marshal Tito's partisan headquarters said his troops had captured Negotin in Yugoslavia six miles from the Romanian and Bulgarian borders, and had made contact with the Red Army.)

Front dispatches said mauled Nazi armored forces fell back chaotically to the northern elbow of the Narew river, pursued closely by Russian tanks carrying swarms of tommygunners.

(The Berlin radio acknowledged today that Russian troops have penetrated Praga, eastern suburb of Warsaw.)

Take 30 Towns

Gen. Zakharov's relentless attacks northeast of Warsaw won more than 30 settlements, and increased steadily the threat of outflanking the Polish capital. Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's forces, with the help of Gen. Zygmunt Berling's First Polish Army, continued to wage a stubborn fight for the city.

Russian triumphs in mountain warfare, which included the capture of more than 100 settlements by Gen. Petrov's forces, created still another terror for the Hungarians, who already are in desperate straits in Transylvania.

Hungarian and German units lost Osorhei, 45 miles southeast of the Transylvanian capital of Cluj, and were retreating in confusion from the eastern Carpathian defenses breached by the Russian capture of Campulung in northeastern Romania.

French Smash Along Marne; Near Belfort

By SID FEDER

Rome, Sept. 14 (AP)—French troops smashed up the Marne river today to within 15 miles of Chaumont, headquarters of Gen. John J. Pershing in the first World War. The Allied assault on the Belfort gateway to southwestern Germany drew nearer with the American entrance into Villersexel and the fall of Pont de Roide to the French.

The break into Villersexel against apparently lessening resistance everywhere along the entire 120-mile front, except in the area of the Swiss frontier, put the Americans less than 20 miles west of Belfort.

Pont de Roide, 16 miles south of Belfort, was cleared of the enemy after a two-day street-by-street struggle, and the French fanned out and took nearby Autechaux-Roide.

The Germans, battling bitterly in an effort to hold the southern spear of the three-pronged attack on the Belfort Gap, last night started a strong counterattack. For the second day in a row the Germans threw tanks into the counterthrust.

Opposition Light

The northward plunging French on the left flank of the Seventh Army front found opposition light for the third straight day and overran Langres, a town of 6,000 and an important communications center 65 miles southeast of Nancy, then pushed ahead toward Chaumont.

Southeast of Langres, where enemy pockets remain to be cleared from the Plateau de Langres on the far southwestern edges of the Doubs valley, the French occupied the village of Genevrieres without resistance, and cleared the last snipers out of Oray, a town of 6,000 on the upper Saone river.

Americans maintained a steady, swift advance across the wide reaches of the flatlands area of Vesoul, which includes the valleys of the Doubs, Ognon and Saone.

SOME LEADERS PREDICT NAZI FALL BY OCT. 31

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

United Nations success in Europe continues to pile up so consistently that you knock wood on learning about each successive gain, for fear luck just can't continue to be so good—but the most significant news is the word from Quebec conference circles that Allied armies are driving into Germany ahead of D-Day schedule.

This means that way back at the time of the invasion, more than three months ago, the Allied high command did such a remarkable job of crystal gazing — calculating weather, military progress, supply problems and what not — that they're still on the beam for General Eisenhower's prediction that the war is likely to end this year. Yesterday this column expressed the view that Allied generalship has been superior to the traditionally high class German military leadership. Well, here's a case in hand at a decisive moment.

Fall By October 21

Things are going so well that London says United States war planning chiefs are reported to have established October 31 as the tentative "outside" date for the collapse of organized resistance in Germany. Not being a prophet I won't argue that point, but merely reiterate that anything can happen at any time when German fortunes are in such critical state, though there's likely to be some tough fighting yet.

We must keep in mind that the Germans thus far have given every indication that they intend to battle to a finish. Their military operations show this, and Hitler has given fresh sign of his own determination in a warning to the people to "fight to the bitter end" and not bow to any Allied ultimatum for surrender. The Nazi dictator tells his people that there's "no difference between these so-called 'Liberators' and the bloody thirsty Russians." This sort of talk apparently has registered with at least part of the population, judging from the glances of bitter hatred which the German people have been giving the Allied troops who already have reached Nazi soil.

Unknown Strength

The Nazi will to fight on is there. That's the known quantity. The unknown element is how much strength remains to implement this determination. True, it's clear that the Reich is close to collapse, but Hitler may be able to put up a stiff final battle after shortening his fronts and concentrating his terribly depleted man-power.

While there's vast encouragement in the news that the Allies have reached German soil, and even have cracked the outer defense of the westwall (or Siegfried line) at one or two points, we aren't entitled to reach sweeping conclusions from this. The Nazis won't try to defend all points of the frontier, and it must be remembered that the westwall isn't a wall at all.

Deep Defenses

The westwall isn't a solid line of fortifications, as its name suggests. The French Maginot line does have a barrier of concrete and steel forts, but while the westwall has many fortifications it comprises a maze of defenses of many sorts arranged in great depth. The line varies from ten to thirty miles in width. It's so constructed that great fire-power can be concentrated on any given point from several directions, and the general idea is to let enemy troops get well into the midst of these fortifications and then slaughter them with intense gunfire. So capture of an outpost of the westwall doesn't necessarily indicate a quick breakthrough.

One of the greatest threats to the morale of the German population is the terrific bombing. Yesterday, for example, between 5,000 and 6,000 Allied planes dumped 10,000 tons of bombs into the Reich between the border and Berlin—after General Eisenhower had given fair warning that heavy bombing was coming.

MAKES APPEAL TO GET VOTES IN NOVEMBER

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Pennsylvania Democratic leaders were pledged today to a militant campaign to elect President Roosevelt and the party's state-wide ticket in what State Chairman David L. Lawrence termed "the most solemn election," since that of Abraham Lincoln.

"It's up to you and I to win this fight," Lawrence told state committeemen and other leaders at a campaign-launching convention. "We have got to get the voters registered. We have got to get them to the polls. Mothers and fathers must go to the polls this year. It is the most solemn duty they have ever had."

Told by keynoter Governor J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island "the destiny of our country" depends on continuation of the New Deal, the state committee yesterday adopted unanimously a platform backing the President's war and peace record.

Rap Governors

It also demanded a "searching and thorough investigation" of the commonwealth's $150,000,000 liquor monopoly and condemned labor policies of the administrations of Republican Governor Arthur H. James and Edward Martin. A last-minute insertion called for legislation for portal-to-portal safety for miners.

U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey also told the two-hour session he will ask the Senate Elections Committee to investigate what he said was a fund raising drive for political purposes by the National Industrial Information Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Urging Pennsylvania voters to defeat his Republican colleague, James J. Davis, Guffey said "on practically all of the important foreign policy issues which have come before the Senate in the last decade, Pennsylvania's senators have cancelled out each others' votes."

FIERCE STORM SWEEPS NORTH CAROLINA COAST

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—A great Atlantic hurricane, described as one of the most dangerous in recent years, veered northward today after menacing the North Carolina coast, and roared past Cape Hatteras.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—A 40- to 50-mile gale will hit the Philadelphia region before nightfall, the government weather bureau said today.

The bureau predicetd a 60-mile wind for the New Jersey coast and heavy rain through the eastern Pennsylvania-New Jersey region.

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—Gales swept the entire North Carolina coast early today as a great tropical hurricane moved northward over the ocean but the center of the storm appeared to have changed course so that it may not hit the mainland except for possibly the tip of Cape Hatteras.

The Wilmington weather bureau said early today (7 a. m.) that it had "watched" the center of the storm, from an observation post with the aid of binoculars, as it passed northward possibly 150 miles east of Wilmington.

The bureau said the storm center was clearly visible in the cloud formation and unless it changed course the main force of the blow would likely miss the mainland entirely and at worst would hit only the tip of isolated Hatteras.

Winds of 30 to 50 miles an hour blew from south of Wilmington northward to Beaufort. Barometer started climbing here and the danger seemed past.

The worst tropical storm in several years was located, at 4 a. m. (EWT), weather advisory said, about 100 miles south of Beaufort and was roaring northwestward at a rate of 18 miles an hour.

Winds, the advisory added, were already increasing on the North Carolina coast before dawn and were expected to reach hurricane force in the early forenoon from Wilmington northward.

Beaufort is located south of Cherry point, site of a large Marine base.

Emphasizing the gravity of the storm, the weather bureau urged residents of low lying areas and exposed beaches of the North Carolina and Virginia coast and the lower Chesapeake to move inland.

Many Move Inland

One plane pilot, boring into the fringe of the storm during its 1,500-mile trip from the Leeward islands since last Friday, estimated winds up to 140 miles an hour were blowing.

Warnings of the approaching storm sent more than 1,500 residents of Wrightsville Beach and Carolina Beach, resort towns east of Wilmington, scurrying inland late yesterday. Hundreds of others along exposed areas of the coast line also evacuated.

"Hurricane warnings are displayed from Myrtle Beach, N. C., to Virginia and storm warnings from Savannah, Ga., to Myrtle Beach and north to the Virginia Capes and Atlantic City. Hurricane alerts have been extended northward to Eastport, Maine," the weather bureau said.

Cautioning against "scare reports," the New York weather bureau said the hurricane moving northward could not reach the New York vicinity today and might not do so at all. Winds of gale force, however, were expected to strike the New Jersey and Long Island coastal areas as the disturbance moves up the eastern seaboard.

ITALY-BASED BOMBERS LASH REICH TARGETS

Rome, Sept. 14 (AP)—Italy-based Allied warplanes teemed with American Eighth Air Force bombers shuttling from Russia in a devastating attack on German communications and industries in south central Europe yesterday and last night.

While 15th Air Force Liberators and Fortresses left fires in Nazi synthetic oil refineries at Odertal in upper Silesia and Oswiecim in Poland, Eighth Air Force Fortresses, flying the second leg of the Britain-Russia-Italy shuttle, blasted the Doisgyor Ordnance factory in Hungary, 80 miles northeast of Budapest.

RAF Halifaxes, Liberators and Wellingtons last night made simultaneous raids on three air fields in the Athens area, where the Germans have concentrated transport planes, presumably to evacuate picked troops from Greece.

The air fields were at Tatoi, Eleusis and Kalamaki, all within ten miles of Athens.

Eighth Air Force Fortresses sent to Russia September 11 and bombing a target near Chemnitz en route, caused many explosions and fires yesterday in the Doisgyor factory, where tanks were being produced for the German Army.

The only two enemy fighters who rose to meet the American bombers were shot down by escorting Mustangs, but the Mediterranean Allied air force loss of 26 heavies and nine other planes was the greatest suffered recently.

Would Amend Bill On Postwar Highway

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Senator Russell (D-Ga) is drafting a proposed amendment to a pending $3,375,250,000 postwar highway bill to prohibit a government contribution in excess of $200,000,000 annually unless widespread unemployment follows the war.

Under the proposal, which Russell said he would submit to the Senate Postoffice and Post Roads Committee today, the amount of the federal payments to the states would be automatically increased to keep pace with jobless rolls.

"If the committee refuses the amendment," Russell declared, "I'm going to make a fight for a flat reduction."

Stockholm, Sept. 14 (AP)—The three largest hotels in Copenhagen were ordered cleared of civilians today presumably so high German officers could use them, the Danish Press service reported.

PRIVATE TELLS DEWEY HE WILL SHARE G-I VOTE

By JACK BELL

Enroute With Dewey, Sept. 14 (AP)—A strong Republican bid for the service vote apparently is in the offing but unless Gov. Thomas E. Dewey changes his plans, he probably will not visit any Army or Navy installations for direct personal appeals.

Dewey, who made a round of Army camps for the USO in 1941, has indicated that he does not expect to address troops, except in short wave rebroadcasts of his major addresses which the War Department has promised to beam overseas.

But he has shown sharp interest in the possible reaction of men in uniform to his attacks on the New Deal's handling of home front problems and his reiteration of charges that the Roosevelt administration is incompetent to deal with postwar reconversion.

Soldier Prediction

Before he left Valentine, Neb., yesterday enroute to conferences with Sheridan, Wyo., Republican leaders today, the GOP nominee heard a prediction by Pfc. John C. Miller of Pittsburgh, Pa., that the service vote would be closely divided between him and Mr. Roosevelt.

Many Republicans have feared that members of the armed forces would be swayed by Democratic appeals to support the President as the Commander-in-Chief and the Republican National Committee is understood to be planning counter pleas.

Miller, who is 24 and never has had an opportunity to vote in a presidential election, walked up to Dewey during a rodeo at the Valentine fairgrounds and started a conversation. With a pal, Pfc. Joe Feinthal of New York city, Miller had hitch-hiked 300 miles from the Kearney, Neb., Air Transport Command Depot.

The governor chatted animatedly with him and Miller later said he had told Dewey he believed the governor would fare as well with service men in votes as he will with civilians. The unabashed private predicted that the election would be extremely close.

"Why are you for Mr. Dewey?" a reporter asked.

"I think he's a fine man," Miller replied. "I think Mr. Roosevelt is a fine man, too, but I don't like some of his policies."

The Republican nominee proposed at a news conference that Gen. Douglas MacArthur be given "greater scope and recognition" if there is any reshuffling of the Pacific command.

In a new list made up last year, the War Department had reduced the number of critical items to 14, Doctor Livingston said.

"A few radio commentators and newspaper writers have given the man in the street the impression that the day the war is over we will have plastic automobiles and other similar items," Doctor Livingston stated. "But that is impossible. Research moves slowly and many of these things won't come for many years."

"If you spend enough money on research you can solve any problem," Livingston declared. "While the chemical industry as a whole spends four per cent of its gross sales revenue on research, industry as a whole spends only two per cent and agriculture, including government grants, only one per cent. That is why research in chemistry is so far ahead of the other divisions of endeavor.

"Forty-two per cent of the du Pont sales revenue in the year immediately preceding the war was from articles not in existence 10 years previously," the speaker revealed.

Among the things chemical research has done, he said, has been the reduction in the Jap bolstered price of $3.65 a pound for their natural camphor to 35 cents a pound for artificial camphor; a saving of 500,000 pounds of tin plate by using plastics for shoe lace tips; and a saving of 22,000 tons of rubber for other uses by making raincoats, bed sheeting and other similar items from the plastic butacite.

The motion picture shown was titled "Brief for Invasion." Music during the evening was furnished by the Note Busters of Littlestown. The next quarterly meeting will be held in December, when a ladies' night also will be held.

SOME LEADERS PREDICT NAZI FALL BY OCT. 31

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

United Nations success in Europe continues to pile up so consistently that you knock wood on learning about each successive gain, for fear luck just can't continue to be so good—but the most significant news is the word from Quebec conference circles that Allied armies are driving into Germany ahead of D-Day schedule.

This means that way back at the time of the invasion, more than three months ago, the Allied high command did such a remarkable job of crystal gazing — calculating weather, military progress, supply problems and what not — that they're still on the beam for General Eisenhower's prediction that the war is likely to end this year. Yesterday this column expressed the view that Allied generalship has been superior to the traditionally high class German military leadership. Well, here's a case in hand at a decisive moment.

Fall By October 31

Things are going so well that London says United States war planning chiefs are reported to have established October 31 as the tentative "outside" date for the collapse of organized resistance in Germany. Not being a prophet I won't argue that point, but merely reiterate that anything can happen at any time when German fortunes are in such critical state, though there's likely to be some tough fighting yet.

We must keep in mind that the Germans thus far have given every indication that they intend to battle to a finish. Their military operations show this, and Hitler has given fresh sign of his own determination in a warning to the people to "fight to the bitter end" and not bow to any Allied ultimatum for surrender. The Nazi dictator tells his people that there's "no difference between these so-called 'Liberators' and the bloody thirsty Russians." This sort of talk apparently has registered with at least part of the population, judging from the glances of bitter hatred which the German people have been giving the Allied troops who already have reached Nazi soil.

Unknown Strength

The Nazi will to fight on is there. That's the known quantity. The unknown element is how much strength remains to implement this determination. True, it's clear that the Reich is close to collapse, but Hitler may be able to put up a stiff final battle after shortening his fronts and concentrating his terribly depleted man-power.

While there's vast encouragement in the news that the Allies have reached German soil, and even have cracked the outer defense of the westwall (or Siegfried line) at one or two points, we aren't entitled to reach sweeping conclusions from this. The Nazis won't try to defend all points of the frontier, and it must be remembered that the westwall isn't a wall at all.

Deep Defenses

The westwall isn't a solid line of fortifications, as its name suggests. The French Maginot line does have a barrier of concrete and steel forts, but while the westwall has many fortifications it comprises a maze of defenses of many sorts arranged in great depth. The line varies from ten to thirty miles in width. It's so constructed that great fire-power can be concentrated on any given point from several directions, and the general idea is to let enemy troops get well into the midst of these fortifications and then slaughter them with intense gunfire. So capture of an outpost of the westwall doesn't necessarily indicate a quick breakthrough.

One of the greatest threats to the morale of the German population is the terrific bombing. Yesterday, for example, between 5,000 and 6,000 Allied planes dumped 10,000 tons of bombs into the Reich between the border and Berlin—after General Eisenhower had given fair warning that heavy bombing was coming.

MAKES APPEAL TO GET VOTES IN NOVEMBER

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Pennsylvania Democratic leaders were pledged today to a militant campaign to elect President Roosevelt and the party's state-wide ticket in what State Chairman David L. Lawrence termed "the most solemn election," since that of Abraham Lincoln.

"It's up to you and I to win this fight," Lawrence told state committeemen and other leaders at a campaign - launching convention. "We have got to get the voters registered. We have got to get them to the polls. Mothers and fathers must go to the polls this year. It is the most solemn duty they have ever had."

Told by keynoter Governor J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island "the destiny of our country" depends on continuation of the New Deal, the state committee yesterday adopted unanimously a platform backing the President's war and peace record.

Rap Governors

It also demanded a "searching and thorough investigation" of the commonwealth's $150,000,000 liquor monopoly and condemned labor policies of the administrations of Republican Governor Arthur H. James and Edward Martin. A last-minute insertion called for legislation for portal-to-portal safety for miners.

U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey also told the two-hour session he will ask the Senate Elections Committee to investigate what he said was a fund raising drive for political purposes by the National Industrial Information Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Urging Pennsylvania voters to defeat his Republican colleague, James J. Davis, Guffey said "on practically all of the important foreign policy issues which have come before the Senate in the last decade, Pennsylvania's senators have cancelled out each others' votes."

FIERCE STORM SWEEPS NORTH CAROLINA COAST

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—A great Atlantic hurricane, described as one of the most dangerous in recent years, veered northward today after menacing the North Carolina coast, and roared past Cape Hatteras.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—A 40- to 50-mile gale will hit the Philadelphia region before nightfall, the government weather bureau said today.

The bureau predicetd a 60-mile wind for the New Jersey coast and heavy rain through the eastern Pennsylvania-New Jersey region.

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—Gales swept the entire North Carolina coast early today as a great tropical hurricane moved northward over the ocean but the center of the storm appeared to have changed course so that it may not hit the mainland except for possibly the tip of Cape Hatteras.

The Wilmington weather bureau said early today (7 a. m.) that it had "watched" the center of the storm, from an observation post with the aid of binoculars, as it passed northward possibly 150 miles east of Wilmington.

The bureau said the storm center was clearly visible in the cloud formation and unless it changed course the main force of the blow would likely miss the mainland entirely and at worst would hit only the tip of isolated Hatteras.

Winds of 30 to 50 miles an hour blew from south of Wilmington northward to Beaufort. Barometer started climbing here and the danger seemed past.

The worst tropical storm in several years was located, at 4 a. m. (EWT), weather advisory said, about 100 miles south of Beaufort and was roaring northwestward at a rate of 18 miles an hour.

Winds, the advisory added, were already increasing on the North Carolina coast before dawn and were expected to reach hurricane force in the early forenoon from Wilmington northward.

Beaufort is located south of Cherry point, site of a large Marine base.

Emphasizing the gravity of the storm, the weather bureau urged residents of low lying areas and exposed beaches of the North Carolina and Virginia coast and the lower Chesapeake to move inland.

Many Move Inland

One plane pilot, boring into the fringe of the storm during its 1,500-mile trip from the Leeward islands since last Friday, estimated winds up to 140 miles an hour were blowing.

Warnings of the approaching storm sent more than 1,500 residents of Wrightsville Beach and Carolina Beach, resort towns east of Wilmington, scurrying inland late yesterday. Hundreds of others along exposed areas of the coast line also evacuated.

"Hurricane warnings are displayed from Myrtle Beach, N. C., to Virginia and storm warnings from Savannah, Ga., to Myrtle Beach and north to the Virginia Capes and Atlantic City. Hurricane alerts have been extended northward to Eastport, Maine," the weather bureau said.

Cautioning against "scare reports," the New York weather bureau said the hurricane moving northward could not reach the New York vicinity today and might not do so at all. Winds of gale force, however, were expected to strike the New Jersey and Long Island coastal areas as the disturbance moves up the eastern seaboard.

ITALY-BASED BOMBERS LASH REICH TARGETS

Rome, Sept. 14 (AP)—Italy-based Allied warplanes teemed with American Eighth Air Force bombers shuttling from Russia in a devastating attack on German communications and industries in south central Europe yesterday and last night.

While 15th Air Force Liberators and Fortresses left fires in Nazi spnthetic oil refineries at Odertal in upper Silesia and Oswiecim in Poland, Eighth Air Force Fortresses, flying the second leg of the Britain-Russia-Italy shuttle, blasted the Doisgyor Ordnance factory in Hungary, 80 miles northeast of Budapest.

RAF Halifaxes, Liberators and Wellingtons last night made simultaneous raids on three air fields in the Athens area, where the Germans have concentrated transport planes, presumably to evacuate picked troops from Greece.

The air fields were at Tatoi, Eleusis and Kalamaki, all within ten miles of Athens.

Eighth Air Force Fortresses sent to Russia September 11 and bombing a target near Chemnitz en route, caused many explosions and fires yesterday in the Doisgyor factory, where tanks were being produced for the German Army.

The only two enemy fighters who rose to meet the American bombers were shot down by escorting Mustangs, but the Mediterranean Allied air force loss of 26 heavies and nine other planes was the greatest suffered recently.

SOME LEADERS PREDICT NAZI FALL BY OCT. 31

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

United Nations success in Europe continues to pile up so consistently that you knock wood on learning about each successive gain, for fear luck just can't continue to be so good—but the most significant news is the word from Quebec conference circles that Allied armies are driving into Germany ahead of D-Day schedule.

This means that way back at the time of the invasion, more than three months ago, the Allied high command did such a remarkable job of crystal gazing — calculating weather, military progress, supply problems and what not — that they're still on the beam for General Eisenhower's prediction that the war is likely to end this year. Yesterday this column expressed the view that Allied generalship has been superior to the traditionally high class German military leadership. Well, here's a case in hand at a decisive moment.

Fall By October 31

Things are going so well that London says United States war planning chiefs are reported to have established October 31 as the tentative "outside" date for the collapse of organized resistance in Germany. Not being a prophet I won't argue that point, but merely reiterate that anything can happen at any time when German fortunes are in such critical state, though there's likely to be some tough fighting yet.

We must keep in mind that the Germans thus far have given every indication that they intend to battle to a finish. Their military operations show this, and Hitler has given fresh sign of his own determination in a warning to the people to "fight to the bitter end" and not bow to any Allied ultimatum for surrender. The Nazi dictator tells his people that there's "no difference between these so-called 'Liberators' and the bloody thirsty Russians." This sort of talk apparently has registered with at least part of the population, judging from the glances of bitter hatred which the German people have been giving the Allied troops who already have reached Nazi soil.

Unknown Strength

The Nazi will to fight on is there. That's the known quantity. The unknown element is how much strength remains to implement this determination. True, it's clear that the Reich is close to collapse, but Hitler may be able to put up a stiff final battle after shortening his fronts and concentrating his terribly depleted man-power.

While there's vast encouragement in the news that the Allies have reached German soil, and even have cracked the outer defense of the westwall (or Siegfried line) at one or two points, we aren't entitled to reach sweeping conclusions from this. The Nazis won't try to defend all points of the frontier, and it must be remembered that the westwall isn't a wall at all.

Deep Defenses

The westwall isn't a solid line of fortifications, as its name suggests. The French Maginot line does have a barrier of concrete and steel forts, but while the westwall has many fortifications it comprises a maze of defenses of many sorts arranged in great depth. The line varies from ten to thirty miles in width. It's so constructed that great fire-power can be concentrated on any given point from several directions, and the general idea is to let enemy troops get well into the midst of these fortifications and then slaughter them with intense gunfire. So capture of an outpost of the westwall doesn't necessarily indicate a quick breakthrough.

One of the greatest threats to the morale of the German population is the terrific bombing. Yesterday, for example, between 5,000 and 6,000 Allied planes dumped 10,000 tons of bombs into the Reich between the border and Berlin—after General Eisenhower had given fair warning that heavy bombing was coming.

MAKES APPEAL TO GET VOTES IN NOVEMBER

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Pennsylvania Democratic leaders were pledged today to a militant campaign to elect President Roosevelt and the party's state-wide ticket in what State Chairman David L. Lawrence termed "the most solemn election," since that of Abraham Lincoln.

"It's up to you and I to win this fight," Lawrence told state committeemen and other leaders at a campaign - launching convention. "We have got to get the voters registered. We have got to get them to the polls. Mothers and fathers must go to the polls this year. It is the most solemn duty they have ever had."

Told by keynoter Governor J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island "the destiny of our country" depends on continuation of the New Deal, the state committee yesterday adopted unanimously a platform backing the President's war and peace record.

Rap Governors

It also demanded a "searching and thorough investigation" of the commonwealth's $150,000,000 liquor monopoly and condemned labor policies of the administrations of Republican Governor Arthur H. James and Edward Martin. A last-minute insertion called for legislation for portal-to-portal safety for miners.

U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey also told the two-hour session he will ask the Senate Elections Committee to investigate what he said was a fund raising drive for political purposes by the National Industrial Information Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Urging Pennsylvania voters to defeat his Republican colleague, James J. Davis, Guffey said "on practically all of the important foreign policy issues which have come before the Senate in the last decade, Pennsylvania's senators have cancelled out each others' votes."

Indians Wallop Camp Reynolds 9

FIERCE STORM SWEEPS NORTH CAROLINA COAST

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—A great Atlantic hurricane, described as one of the most dangerous in recent years, veered northward today after menacing the North Carolina coast, and roared past Cape Hatteras.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—A 40- to 50-mile gale will hit the Philadelphia region before nightfall, the government weather bureau said today.

The bureau predicetd a 60-mile wind for the New Jersey coast and heavy rain through the eastern Pennsylvania-New Jersey region.

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—Gales swept the entire North Carolina coast early today as a great tropical hurricane moved northward over the ocean but the center of the storm appeared to have changed course so that it may not hit the mainland except for possibly the tip of Cape Hatteras.

The Wilmington weather bureau said early today (7 a. m.) that it had "watched" the center of the storm, from an observation post with the aid of binoculars, as it passed northward possibly 150 miles east of Wilmington.

The bureau said the storm center was clearly visible in the cloud formation and unless it changed course the main force of the blow would likely miss the mainland entirely and at worst would hit only the tip of isolated Hatteras.

Winds of 30 to 50 miles an hour blew from south of Wilmington northward to Beaufort. Barometer started climbing here and the danger seemed past.

The worst tropical storm in several years was located, at 4 a. m. (EWT), weather advisory said, about 100 miles south of Beaufort and was roaring northwestward at a rate of 18 miles an hour.

Winds, the advisory added, were already increasing on the North Carolina coast before dawn and were expected to reach hurricane force in the early forenoon from Wilmington northward.

Beaufort is located south of Cherry point, site of a large Marine base.

Emphasizing the gravity of the storm, the weather bureau urged residents of low lying areas and exposed beaches of the North Carolina and Virginia coast and the lower Chesapeake to move inland.

Many Move Inland

One plane pilot, boring into the fringe of the storm during its 1,500-mile trip from the Leeward islands since last Friday, estimated winds up to 140 miles an hour were blowing.

Warnings of the approaching storm sent more than 1,500 residents of Wrightsville Beach and Carolina Beach, resort towns east of Wilmington, scurrying inland late yesterday. Hundreds of others along exposed areas of the coast line also evacuated.

"Hurricane warnings are displayed from Myrtle Beach, N. C., to Virginia and storm warnings from Savannah, Ga., to Myrtle Beach and north to the Virginia Capes and Atlantic City. Hurricane alerts have been extended northward to Eastport, Maine," the weather bureau said.

Cautioning against "scare reports," the New York weather bureau said the hurricane moving northward could not reach the New York vicinity today and might not do so at all. Winds of gale force, however, were expected to strike the New Jersey and Long Island coastal areas as the disturbance moves up the eastern seaboard.

ITALY-BASED BOMBERS LASH REICH TARGETS

Rome, Sept. 14 (AP)—Italy-based Allied warplanes teemed with American Eighth Air Force bombers shuttling from Russia in a devastating attack on German communications and industries in south central Europe yesterday and last night.

While 15th Air Force Liberators and Fortresses left fires in Nazi synthetic oil refineries at Odertal in upper Silesia and Oswiecim in Poland, Eighth Air Force Fortresses, flying the second leg of the Britain-Russia-Italy shuttle, blasted the Doisgyor Ordnance factory in Hungary, 80 miles northeast of Budapest.

RAF Halifaxes, Liberators and Wellingtons last night made simultaneous raids on three air fields in the Athens area, where the Germans have concentrated transport planes, presumably to evacuate picked troops from Greece.

The air fields were at Tatoi, Eleusis and Kalamaki, all within ten miles of Athens.

Eighth Air Force Fortresses sent to Russia September 11 and bombing a target near Chemnitz en route, caused many explosions and fires yesterday in the Doisgyor factory, where tanks were being produced for the German Army.

The only two enemy fighters who rose to meet the American bombers were shot down by escorting Mustangs, but the Mediterranean Allied air force loss of 26 heavies and nine other planes was the greatest suffered recently.

Would Amend Bill On Postwar Highway

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Senator Russell (D-Ga) is drafting a proposed amendment to a pending $3,375,250,000 postwar highway bill to prohibit a government contribution in excess of $200,000,000 annually unless widespread unemployment follows the war.

Under the proposal, which Russell said he would submit to the Senate Postoffice and Post Roads Committee today, the amount of the federal payments to the states would be automatically increased to keep pace with jobless rolls.

"If the committee refuses the amendment," Russell declared, "I'm going to make a fight for a flat reduction."

Stockholm, Sept. 14 (AP)—The three largest hotels in Copenhagen were ordered cleared of civilians today presumably so high German officers could use them, the Danish Press service reported.

PRIVATE TELLS DEWEY HE WILL SHARE G-I VOTE

By JACK BELL

Enroute With Dewey, Sept. 14 (AP)—A strong Republican bid for the service vote apparently is in the offing but unless Gov. Thomas E. Dewey changes his plans, he probably will not visit any Army or Navy installations for direct personal appeals.

Dewey, who made a round of Army camps for the USO in 1941, has indicated that he does not expect to address troops, except in short wave rebroadcasts of his major addresses which the War Department has promised to beam overseas.

But he has shown sharp interest in the possible reaction of men in uniform to his attacks on the New Deal's handling of home front problems and his reiteration of charges that the Roosevelt administration is incompetent to deal with postwar reconversion.

Soldier Prediction

Before he left Valentine, Neb., yesterday enroute to conferences with Sheridan, Wyo., Republican leaders today, the GOP nominee heard a prediction by Pfc. John C. Miller of Pittsburgh, Pa., that the service vote would be closely divided between him and Mr. Roosevelt.

Many Republicans have feared that members of the armed forces would be swayed by Democratic appeals to support the President as the Commander-in-Chief and the Republican National Committee is understood to be planning counter pleas.

Miller, who is 24 and never has had an opportunity to vote in a presidential election, walked up to Dewey during a rodeo at the Valentine fairgrounds and started a conversation. With a pal, Pfc. Joe Feinthal of New York city, Miller had hitch-hiked 300 miles from the Kearney, Neb., Air Transport Command Depot.

Boost For Doug.

The governor chatted animatedly with him and Miller later said he had told Dewey he believed the governor would fare as well with service men in votes as he will with civilians. The unabashed private predicted that the election would be extremely close.

"Why are you for Mr. Dewey?" a reporter asked.

"I think he's a fine man," Miller replied. "I think Mr. Roosevelt is a fine man, too, but I don't like some of his policies."

The Republican nominee proposed at a news conference that Gen. Douglas MacArthur be given "greater scope and recognition" if there is any reshuffling of the Pacific command.

LITTLESTOWN

how many items we needed that we weren't producing ourselves. A list compiled in 1921 by the War Department of the critical items necessary to the United States in time of war totaled 47. In a new list made up last year, the War Department had reduced the number of critical items to 14, Doctor Livingston said.

"A few radio commentators and newspaper writers have given the man in the street the impression that the day the war is over we will have plastic automobiles and other similar items," Doctor Livingston stated. "But that is impossible. Research moves slowly and many of these things won't come for many years."

Motion Picture Shown

"If you spend enough money on research you can solve any problem," Livingston declared. "While the chemical industry as a whole spends four per cent of its gross sales revenue on research, industry as a whole spends only two per cent and agriculture, including government grants, only one per cent. That is why research in chemistry is so far ahead of the other divisions of endeavor.

"Forty-two per cent of the du Pont sales revenue in the year immediately preceding the war was from articles not in existence 10 years previously," the speaker revealed.

Among the things chemical research has done, he said, has been the reduction in the Jap bolstered price of $3.65 a pound for their natural camphor to 35 cents a pound for artificial camphor; a saving of 500,000 pounds of tin plate by using plastics for shoe lace tips; and a saving of 22,000 tons of rubber for other uses by making raincoats, bed sheeting and other similar items from the plastic buticite.

The motion picture shown was titled "Brief for Invasion." Music during the evening was furnished by the Note Busters of Littlestown. The next quarterly meeting will be held in December, when a ladies' night also will be held.

PIRATES SLAP CARDINALS IN DOUBLE CLASH

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

American league world series stock gained a few points today as the four idle contenders, with nothing else to do but wait for the schedule and sunshine to catch up with them, analyzed the fate of the St. Louis Cardinals who had lost their first season series since 1940 and dropped 11 of their last 15 games.

Pittsburgh became the first club in four years to beat the Cards over a season's play when they swept another doubleheader last night, 7-3 and 10-5, for a 12-10 edge in games. The Red Birds haven't beaten the Pirates in their last 10 meetings, a tie being their best effort.

Frankie Frisch has had the Pirates rolling in high gear at a 763 clip since August 9 and at the 600 season mark for the first time as the Cards dipped below 700.

Pitching Trouble

The National league leaders were having pitching trouble with Harry Brecheen failing to go the route in the opener and Max Lanier suffering his fifth successive defeat in the second. Rip Sewell and Xavier Rescigno took credit for the Pitt wins despite two Cardinal homers by Johnny Hopp and one each by Ray Sanders and Ken O'Dea. Johnny Barrett and Babe Dahlgren hit for the circuit for the Pirates.

Rainy weather in Philadelphia robbed the American league of its only scheduled action, pushing back until tonight an Owl tilt between the leading Yankees and the Athletics. Once again, idle Detroit, a half game back, had a chance to move in front by 0008 if New York should lose.

Chicago clung to fourth place in the National by downing Cincinnati, 3-2, in the second game of a doubleheader on Frank Secory's three-run homer after Harry Gumbert had turned them back in the opener, 4-1. Philadelphia at New York and Boston at Brooklyn doubleheaders were rained out.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Beside winning the American Association pennant, the Milwaukee Brewers peddled more than $100,000 worth of ivory to the majors this season and picked up about a dozen 1945 prospects in the exchange . . . looks as if a salesman is more valuable than a second baseman to a minor league club. . . Incidentally, Boss Bramham of the minors has warned those inactive leagues not to be too hasty in their revival plans because of the manpower situation. . . . Chick Meehan is making another nationwide tour to line up backing for a post-war pro football league . . . With Lt. Col. Bill Clater and Major Bill Corum working on the world series broadcast this year, you can blame Don Dunphy if any news is kept private.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Lewis F. Atchison, Washington Star: "Call it the T, single wing or the box formation; call it anything you like, but the system the Redskins will use this year will be the 'let Baugh throw it' system."

EARLY START

After watching the Gobs at Great Lakes go through their training drills, Paul Brown, who used to live football 26 hours a day, said: "Football is just incidental." . . . That's quite right, but to preserve an old custom, here goes the first try at picking the winners: . . . Iowa Seahawks over Michigan (we don't believe those Seahawk Bear stories after seeing the war—not football—veterans on their roster) . . . Great Lakes over Fort Sheridan (easy) . . . Indiana over Fort Knox (guess) . . . Tufts over Harvard (tufts is "formal") . . . Second Air Force over Idaho, southern branch (the superbombers likely will take all branches the trunk and the roots)

SERVICE DEPT.

Tommy Rooney, youngest brother of Art Rooney, the Pittsburgh fight and football promoter, was killed in action fighting with the Marines in Guam . . . Writing from somewhere in China, Col. "Hap" Frank, former football boxing and lamented that he hadn't tasted ice cream in six months and asked his wife to send "some good Pennsylvania pretzels." . . . In a recent softball game at the Jacksonville, Fla. Naval Air Technical training center, a pitcher walked over to third base and asked the runner there, "will you step off the bag so I can straighten it?" The runner obliged and was promptly tagged, but the trickster was tagged too, when he found the umpire had called time as soon as he left the mound.

Jamestown Takes Cup In 7 Games

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—The Jamestown Falcons set a Pony league record by winning the Governor's cup in seven straight games, taking three games from the Batavia Clippers in the semi-finals and four from the Lockport Cubs in the finals.

The Falcons, second place finishers in the regular season, defeated Lockport, the league's pennant winner, 4-2 last night when Rightfielder Barney Hearn broke a 2-all tie in the seventh by smashing a two-run triple. The Cubs reached the finals by sweeping three games from the Hornell Pirates.

GRID CIRCUIT MAY ADOPT NEW LOOP RATINGS

Three plans for reclassification of teams in the Lower Susquehanna Scholastic Football Conference, up for discussion at a meeting of the loop at Camp Hill Wednesday night, will be studied during the current campaign, at the end of which one of them may be adopted.

Athletic heads of the various schools asked last December for a more equitable distribution of conference honors among the Class B teams, of which there are 16, as compared with seven clubs in Class A. President Fred Bower appointed a committee at last year's meeting to study league reclassification and a report of that study was made Wednesday night.

Outline Plans

One of the three plans would lower the enrollment figure which divides the teams into Classes A and B. At present, all schools with 300 or more pupils are in Class A and those with less than 300 are in Class B. Plan 1 would reduce the figure to 250 pupils, which would put 13 schools in Class A and 10 in Class B.

Plan 2 would divide the conference into A, B and C classes, putting seven schools in Class A, eight or nine in Class B, and seven or eight in Class C. This plan would also entail a slight change in the conference rating system. The change would provide that three game points be given for a win over a Class A team, two points for a victory over a Class B team, and one point for a win over a Class C team.

Under Plan 2, teams over 300 enrollment would be in Class A, those with an enrollment between 200 and 299 in Class B, and those with an enrollment under 200 in Class C.

Plan 3 would maintain the present classification of teams but divide Class B clubs into two sections, the winner in each of which would be awarded a trophy.

Two Inactive

Washington Township High school of Hooverville, one of the 24 schools in the circuit, joins New Freedom high on the inactive list this season. The Hooverville school has been obliged to give up football for the duration as did New Freedom last year.

Biglerville high, a conference member, was represented at the meeting by Arthur Gordon, athletic director, Ray Shetter and Prof. Leslie V. Stock, supervising principal.

Cards Favorites In Cup Playoffs

(By The Associated Press)

The Allentown Cardinals, fresh from their victory in the Interstate league pennant race, loom as a strong favorite in the playoffs for the Governor's Cup open tonight with the Cardinals meeting third-place York.

However, the second-place Wilmington Blue Rocks, former leaders in the league before Allentown edged them out in the final stretch, are expected to provide tough competition. The Blue Rocks are matched against the fourth-place Lancaster Red Roses in the best-out-of-five semi-finals.

The semi-finals open tonight at Allentown and Wilmington with two games to be played at each city before the teams move on to York and Lancaster for the remaining three games, if necessary to settle the series.

PIRATES SLAP CARDINALS IN DOUBLE CLASH

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

American league world series stock gained a few points today as the four idle contenders, with nothing else to do but wait for the schedule and sunshine to catch up with them, analyzed the fate of the St. Louis Cardinals who had lost their first season series since 1940 and dropped 11 of their last 15 games.

Pittsburgh became the first club in four years to beat the Cards over a season's play when they swept another doubleheader last night, 7-3 and 10-5, for a 12-10 edge in games. The Red Birds haven't beaten the Pirates in their last 10 meetings, a tie being their best effort.

Frankie Frisch has had the Pirates rolling in high gear at a .763 clip since August 9 and at the .600 season mark for the first time as the Cards dipped below .700.

Pitching Trouble

The National league leaders were having pitching trouble with Harry Brecheen failing to go the route in the opener and Max Lanier suffering his fifth successive defeat in the second. Rip Sewell and Xavier Rescigno took credit for the Pitt wins despite two Cardinal homers by Johnny Hopp and one each by Ray Sanders and Ken O'Dea. Johnny Barrett and Babe Dahlgren hit for the circuit for the Pirates.

Rainy weather in Philadelphia robbed the American league of its only scheduled action, pushing back until tonight an Owl tilt between the leading Yankees and the Athletics. Once again, idle Detroit, a half game back, had a chance to move in front by .0008 if New York should lose.

Chicago clung to fourth place in the National by downing Cincinnati, 3-2, in the second game of a doubleheader on Frank Secory's three-run homer after Harry Gumbert had turned them back in the opener, 4-1. Philadelphia at New York and Boston at Brooklyn doubleheaders were rained out.

PIRATES SLAP CARDINALS IN DOUBLE CLASH

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

American league world series stock gained a few points today as the four idle contenders, with nothing else to do but wait for the schedule and sunshine to catch up with them, analyzed the fate of the St. Louis Cardinals who had lost their first season series since 1940 and dropped 11 of their last 15 games.

Pittsburgh became the first club in four years to beat the Cards over a season's play when they swept another doubleheader last night, 7-3 and 10-5, for a 12-10 edge in games. The Red Birds haven't beaten the Pirates in their last 10 meetings, a tie being their best effort.

Frankie Frisch has had the Pirates rolling in high gear at a .763 clip since August 9 and at the .600 season mark for the first time as the Cards dipped below .700.

Pitching Trouble

The National league leaders were having pitching trouble with Harry Brecheen failing to go the route in the opener and Max Lanier suffering his fifth successive defeat in the second. Rip Sewell and Xavier Rescigno took credit for the Pitt wins despite two Cardinal homers by Johnny Hopp and one each by Ray Sanders and Ken O'Dea. Johnny Barrett and Babe Dahlgren hit for the circuit for the Pirates.

Rainy weather in Philadelphia robbed the American league of its only scheduled action, pushing back until tonight an Owl tilt between the leading Yankees and the Athletics. Once again, idle Detroit, a half game back, had a chance to move in front by .0008 if New York should lose.

Chicago clung to fourth place in the National by downing Cincinnati, 3-2, in the second game of a doubleheader on Frank Secory's three-run homer after Harry Gumbert had turned them back in the opener, 4-1. Philadelphia at New York and Boston at Brooklyn doubleheaders were rained out.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Beside winning the American Association pennant, the Milwaukee Brewers peddled more than $100,000 worth of ivory to the majors this season and picked up about a dozen 1945 prospects in the exchange . . . looks as if a salesman is more valuable than a second baseman to a minor league club. . . . Incidentally, Boss Bramham of the minors has warned those inactive leagues not to be too hasty in their revival plans because of the manpower situation. . . . Chick Meehan is making another nationwide tour to line up backing for a post-war pro football league . . . With Lt. Col. Bill Slater and Major Bill Corum working on the world series broadcast this year, you can blame Don Dunphy if any news is kept private.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Lewis F. Atchison, Washington Star: "Call it the T, single wing or the box formation; call it anything you like, but the system the Redskins will use this year will be the 'let Baugh throw it' system."

EARLY START

After watching the Gobs at Great Lakes go through their training drills, Paul Brown, who used to live football 26 hours a day, said: "Football is just incidental." . . . That's quite right, but to preserve an old custom, here goes the first try at picking the winners: . . . Iowa Seahawks over Michigan (we don't believe those Seahawk Bear stories after seeing the war—not football—veterans on their roster) . . . Great Lakes over Fort Sheridan (easy) . . . Indiana over Fort Knox (guess) . . . Tufts over Harvard (tufts is "formal") . . . Second Air Force over Idaho, southern branch (the superbombers likely will take all branches, the trunk and the roots).

SERVICE DEPT.

Tommy Rooney, youngest brother or Art Rooney, the Pittsburgh fight and football promoter, was killed in action fighting with the Marines in Guam . . . Writing from somewhere in China, Col. "Hap" Frank, former football boxing and lamented that he hadn't tasted ice cream in six months and asked his wife to send "some good Pennsylvania pretzels." . . . In a recent softball game at the Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air Technical training center, a pitcher walked over to third base and asked the runner there, "will you step off the bag so I can straighten it?" The runner obliged and was promptly tagged, but the trickster was tagged too, when he found the umpire had called time as soon as he left the mound.

Jamestown Takes Cup In 7 Games

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—The Jamestown Falcons set a Pony league record by winning the Governor's cup in seven straight games, taking three games from the Batavia Clippers in the semi-finals and four from the Lockport Cubs in the finals.

The Falcons, second place finishers in the regular season, defeated Lockport, the league's pennant winner, 4-2 last night when Rightfielder Barney Hearn broke a 2-all tie in the seventh by smashing a two-run triple. The Cubs reached the finals by sweeping three games from the Hornell Pirates.

GRID CIRCUIT MAY ADOPT NEW LOOP RATINGS

Three plans for reclassification of teams in the Lower Susquehanna Scholastic Football Conference, up for discussion at a meeting of the loop at Camp Hill Wednesday night, will be studied during the current campaign, at the end of which one of them may be adopted.

Athletic heads of the various schools asked last December for a more equitable distribution of conference honors among the Class B teams, of which there are 16, as compared with seven clubs in Class A. President Fred Bower appointed a committee at last year's meeting to study league reclassification and a report of that study was made Wednesday night.

Outline Plans

One of the three plans would lower the enrollment figure which divides the teams into Classes A and B. At present, all schools with 300 or more pupils are in Class A and those with less than 300 are in Class B. Plan 1 would reduce the figure to 250 pupils, which would put 13 schools in Class A and 10 in Class B.

Plan 2 would divide the conference into A, B and C classes, putting seven schools in Class A, eight or nine in Class B, and seven or eight in Class C. This plan would also entail a slight change in the conference rating system. The change would provide that three game points be given for a win over a Class A team, two points for a victory over a Class B team, and one point for a win over a Class C team.

Under Plan 2, teams over 300 enrollment would be in Class A, those with an enrollment between 200 and 299 in Class B, and those with an enrollment under 200 in Class C.

Plan 3 would maintain the present classification of teams but divide Class B clubs into two sections, the winner in each of which would be awarded a trophy.

Two Inactive

Washington Township High school of Hooverville, one of the 24 schools in the circuit, joins New Freedom high on the inactive list this season. The Hooverville school has been obliged to give up football for the duration as did New Freedom last year.

Biglerville high, a conference member, was represented at the meeting by Arthur Gordon, athletic director, Ray Shetter and Prof. Leslie V. Stock, supervising principal.

Cards Favorites In Cup Playoffs

(By The Associated Press)

The Allentown Cardinals, fresh from their victory in the Interstate league pennant race, loom as a strong favorite in the playoffs for the Governor's Cup open tonight with the Cardinals meeting third-place York.

However, the second-place Wilmington Blue Rocks, former leaders in the league before Allentown edged them out in the final stretch, are expected to provide tough competition. The Blue Rocks are matched against the fourth-place Lancaster Red Roses in the best-out-of-five semi-finals.

The semi-finals open tonight at Allentown and Wilmington with two games to be played at each city before the teams move on to York and Lancaster for the remaining three games, if necessary to settle the series.

CRANKMIRE LOSES HIS TEMPER

Said Crankmire: "Give the check to me!
I'd rather pay the bill myself
Than guest of such complainers be,
Whose thoughts no higher go than pelf.
Here, richly eating at your ease
And wearing trim civilian dress,
You've gone from ox-tail soup to cheese
With undiluted bitterness!

"You haven't said one cheerful word!
Not one of you has dared to smile.
You've all repeated things you've heard—
Untrue, unfair and even vile.
But still the war is far from won,
And still our boys in jungles die—
Brave and devoted every one,
And we're the home front—you and I!

"Stand up! A uniform goes by!
Two weeks from now that lad will be
A bomber in the German sky
Or sailing the Pacific sea.
I've had enough of you today!
Give me the check! I'll hear no more!
You whimperers all, I'm on my way!"
And out he went and slammed the door!

Today's Talk

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE POOR

There is a common brotherhood to the poor that is not experienced in any brotherhood of the rich. There are so many other things that are dominant with the poor, outside the possessions of the rich.

The poor have wants — plenty of them! They have dreams, as well—and many of them come true, too. There is a common companionship to those of humble circumstances. Their human traits are outstanding. Most of them have a high regard for law and order and believe in the decencies. They have pride, and they have an appreciation for the ordinary beauties of life that are often wholly neglected by those who have many things to worry about.

Most of our pioneers belonged to this brotherhood of the poor. Freedom is defended mostly by them. Their children are the builders of states and nations. Up from their midst rise the great of this earth whom we delight to honor. In America most of the leaders have had a humble origin. Many of the Presidents of the United States came from poor families. Jackson, Lincoln, Garfield, Johnson, to name but a few.

The 'Who's Who' books would be small indeed in their brief biographies were it not for the instances of those men who were born poor, but who rose to heights of honor and distinction through self-reliance and a determined will.

Our literature is enriched by those who were once poor and full of struggle. The same thing is true in the arts, science, research, and business. The dynamic man of business, Henry J. Kaiser, was once a photographer! And he was so poor that when he fell in love he had to move swiftly to keep his chosen treasure as his own. He had to hurdle natural [illegible]. But that, apparently, was fun for this indomitable human being.

Mr. Henry Ford came from fine but poor parents. He once showed me a contract he had made with a Detroit concern, about [illegible], which called for a salary to him of but $150 a month. And from his own organization have risen an endless number of able and creative men that were as poor as he when they came with him—but that brotherhood stood. There is nothing to stop the ambition of the worthy worker.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject "God's Tears."

Greek Wedding Is Elaborate Affair: A wedding of unusual prominence in Greek Catholic circles here took place Monday evening at 11 o'clock when Miss Emma Valafanz, of Reading, was united in marriage to Steven Svarnas, one of the proprietors of the American Restaurant here.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Nicholas Papavasition, of Lancaster, at the home of Chris Mitchell, co-partner of Mr. Svarnas.

Preceding the marriage ceremony, Audrey Louise, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Mitchell was baptized into the Greek Catholic church. John Highland was godfather while a number of other relatives were attendants.

World Fliers Hop-Off from Bolling Field (By Associated Press), Washington, Sept. 13.—The Army world fliers began the last stage of their journey today, hopping off from Bolling Field for Dayton, Ohio, at 10:50 Eastern standard time.

During preliminary maneuvers about the field, the tail skid of the flag plane, piloted by Lieutenant L. H. Smith, was slightly damaged, but the task of repairing it was only the work of a few minutes.

Adams County Responds on Friday to Defense Day Call of Uncle Sam: Gettysburg and Adams county did its bit again for Uncle Sam Friday afternoon as this county was called upon so often during the hectic days of the World War.

The lack of a real, definite motive back of the movement, other than a desire of the War Department to learn the nation's man-power in peace times, did not serve as a bar to the whole-hearted exhibition in Gettysburg, in which some two thousand men, women and children participated.

SPLENDID PARADE

The parade was all and more than was expected of it. Men of military age—18 to 45 years—turned out in large numbers to fill to overflowing the skeleton ranks of the 316th rifle company, 79th division, commanded by William G. Weaver, and the 79th Tank Company, in command of Robert E. Lee. . . .

700 RESPOND

Major Edgar A. Miller, chairman of the military committee, after witnessing the parade, telegraphed Adams county's quota to the War Department at Washington at 700 men. Many enlisted for the day, but did not march in the parade.

Captain S. C. Thompson, commandant of the R.O.T.C. unit at Gettysburg college, and reserve officers John Slaybaugh and William Timmins were grand marshals of the parade.

Oppose Pacifism (By Associated Press) Atlantic City, Sept. 11.—The annual national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars went on record today as opposed to pacifism and demanding an adequate military and Naval defense policy.

Confessed Slayers of Young "Bobby" Franks Sentenced to Life Imprisonment Today (By Associated Press), Criminal Court Building, Chicago, Sept. 10—Sentences of life imprisonment for the murder of 14-year-old Robert Franks and 99 years of imprisonment for kidnaping the boy were meted out today to Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb by Judge [illegible] Caverly. The youth of the defendants, 18 and 19 years, was all that saved them from the noose.

"It was all we could have asked for," said Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the defense.

"There will be no appeal."

Sheriff P. M. Hoffman announced that he had received telephone calls giving warning that an attack would be made on his party when he conveyed the boys to the penitentiary.

BULGAR TO PAY FOR DELAYING ALLIED CAUSE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Armistice terms for Bulgaria are now being put into final shape by the Anglo-American-Soviet European Advisory Commission, it was reported today. They are expected to be tougher than the terms imposed on Romania, because Bulgaria was slower to turn against Germany.

The 20-point Romanian document, signed in Moscow and made public by the three Allied governments, is considered here to be relatively lenient. The leniency is attributed to the fact that when Romania broke her alliance with Germany August 24 her troops immediately lined up with the Russian forces fighting Germany.

This is regarded as being in line with Allied promises to Nazi satellites that their postwar existance would be made easier to the extent that they aided the Allied cause. Specifically it is expected to have some effect on Austria, which has become the target of Allied appeals to revolt.

Romanian Terms

The main provisions of the Romanian armistice:

$300,000,000 worth of reparations in oil, timber, machinery, and the like to be turned over to Russia over a six year period.

Agreement that Russia will keep Bessarabia and northern Bucovina which she obtained by a 1940 frontier settlement.

That Romania will return all United Nations property she has taken.

That she will rid herself completely of Fascism and Fascist-type organizations.

On the other side of the ledger Romania regains Transylvania, which Hitler assigned to Hungary in 1940. This is subject to confirmation in the postwar peace settlement. Also Romania escapes military government and military occupation, although she agrees to make available to Russian troops such facilities and supplies as may be necessary for prosecution of the war on Germany.

As in the case of Italy, whose armistice agreement had not yet been made public, an Allied Control Commission (Russian, British, American) is created for Romania with the specific duty of seeing that the armistice terms are lived up to.

Soviet newspapers declared editorially today that the Romanian armistice negotiations, in which Russia, Britain and the United States worked in closest harmony, are good proof that the Allies will settle the peace of Europe in the same spirit of friendly cooperation.

Until Lafayette's time, the Landes region in France was unhealthy marsh land.

21-Month Old Babe Dies Of Gas Burns

Titusville, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP) — Donald William Foster, 21 months, died in Titusville hospital last night from burns suffered when gasoline ignited in a room at his home. Venango county Coroner P. E. Cunningham said the infant upset a can of gasoline used to power the washing machine and the fluid was ignited by the flame of a hot water heater.

The mother, Mrs. Barney Foster, suffered burns in carrying the infant from the burning room.

Indian Division Probes Jap Lines

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, Sept. 14 (AP)—Troops of the Fifth Indian division fighting their way toward Tiddim in western Burma began probing Japanese positions along the Manipur river with the support of Allied aircraft and artillery, headquarters announced today.

Liberator bombers of the Eastern Air command attacked the rail center of Moulmein in central Burma, scoring direct hits on the railway yards, warehouses and river jetties.

Beaufighters struck at traffic on the Mandalay-Lashio railway, damaging locomotives and rolling stock.

Malta has had more than 3,500 air alerts and 1,200 actual raids during World War II.

MANY SOLDIERS ARE KILLED IN TRAIN COLLISION

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 14 (AP)—At least 25 persons were killed and about 65 injured early today in the collision of two Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad passenger trains near here. Virtually all of the dead and injured were soldiers.

The trains, one the crack Dixie Flyer, south bound and the other a mail and express train, crashed headon during a heavy fog.

The engine, tender, two baggage cars and the first two of three pullmans on the Dixie Flyer left the track and piled up along the roadway. All cars of the other train held the track.

The first two pullmans of the flyer carried only soldiers.

A major, who declined to give his name, said all of the men were overseas airforce veterans, most of whom wore the Purple Heart decoration. He said they were on 30-day furloughs, after which they were to have been taken to redistribution centers.

Car Splits Open

The first pullman, containing 39 soldiers, split open like a melon. Some passengers were pinned in their seats, others were thrown out along the tracks and some were caught beneath other cars. Most of the soldiers and civilians were asleep at the time of the crash.

Through the wreckage and alongside the tracks lay Purple Heart decorations and air medals. Baggage of the soldiers and civilians was strewn for a hundred yards.

A Catholic priest rushed to the scene of the wreck and from there went to the St. Anthony and Union hospitals giving last rites to everyone, regardless of creed.

For several hours after the collision, which occurred at 2:20 a. m. (Central War time) on a single track three miles northeast of here, there were conflicting reports on the number of dead and injured. The fog lay heavy over the scene and bodies were scattered helter skelter.

The 16-car Dixie Flyer, en route to Miami, Florida, had left Chicago at 10:15 p. m. Only passengers carried by the express train were railroad employes. Both trains were moving at the time of the collision.

The total annual tea exports from tea-producing countries are about 810,000,000 pounds.

CRANKMIRE LOSES HIS TEMPER

Said Crankmire: "Give the check to me!
I'd rather pay the bill myself
Than guest of such complainers be,
Whose thoughts no higher go than pelf.
Here, richly eating at your ease
And wearing trim civilian dress,
You've gone from ox-tail soup to cheese
With undiluted bitterness!

"You haven't said one cheerful word!
Not one of you has dared to smile.
You've all repeated things you've heard—
Untrue, unfair and even vile.
But still the war is far from won,
And still our boys in jungles die—
Brave and devoted every one.
And we're the home front—you and I!

"Stand up! A uniform goes by!
Two weeks from now that lad will be
A bomber in the German sky
Or sailing the Pacific sea.
I've had enough of you today!
Give me the check! I'll hear no more!
You whimperers all, I'm on my way!"
And out he went and slammed the door!

Today's Talk

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE POOR

There is a common brotherhood to the poor that is not experienced in any brotherhood of the rich. There are so many other things that are dominant with the poor, outside the possessions of the rich.

The poor have wants — plenty of them! They have dreams, as well—and many of them come true, too. There is a common companionship to those of humble circumstances. Their human traits are outstanding. Most of them have a high regard for law and order and believe in the decencies. They have pride, and they have an appreciation for the ordinary beauties of life that are often wholly neglected by those who have many things to worry about.

Most of our pioneers belonged to this brotherhood of the poor. Freedom is defended mostly by them. Their children are the builders of states and nations. Up from their midst rise the great of this earth whom we delight to honor. In America most of the leaders have had a humble origin. Many of the Presidents of the United States came from poor families. Jackson, Lincoln, Garfield, Johnson, to name but a few.

The "Who's Who" books would be small indeed in their brief biographies were it not for the instances of those who were born poor, but who rose to heights of honor and distinction through self-reliance and a determined will.

Our literature is enriched by those who were once poor and full of struggle. The same thing is true in the arts, science, research, and business. The dynamic giant of business, Henry J. Kaiser, was once a photographer! And he was so poor that when he fell in love he had to move swiftly to keep his chosen treasure as his own. He had to hurdle parental rule! But that, apparently, was fun for this indomitable human being.

Mr. Henry Ford came from fine, but poor parents. He once showed me a contract he had made with a Detroit concern, about 1900, that called for a salary to him of but $150 a month. And from his great organization have risen an endless number of able and wealthy men that were as poor as he when they came with him—but that brotherhood stood. There is nothing to stop the ambition of the worthy worker.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "God's Tears."

CRANKMIRE LOSES HIS TEMPER

Said Crankmire: "Give the check to me!
I'd rather pay the bill myself
Than guest of such complainers be,
Whose thoughts no higher go than pelf.
Here, richly eating at your ease
And wearing trim civilian dress,
You've gone from ox-tail soup to cheese
With undiluted bitterness!

"You haven't said one cheerful word!
Not one of you has dared to smile.
You've all repeated things you've heard—
Untrue, unfair and even vile.
But still the war is far from won,
And still our boys in jungles die—
Brave and devoted every one,
And we're the home front—you and I!

"Stand up! A uniform goes by!
Two weeks from now that lad will be
A bomber in the German sky
Or sailing the Pacific sea.
I've had enough of you today!
Give me the check! I'll hear no more!
You whimperers all, I'm on my way!"
And out he went and slammed the door!

Today's Talk

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE POOR

There is a common brotherhood to the poor that is not experienced in any brotherhood of the rich. There are so many other things that are dominant with the poor, outside the possessions of the rich.

The poor have wants — plenty of them! They have dreams, as well—and many of them come true, too. There is a common companionship to those of humble circumstances. Their human traits are outstanding. Most of them have a high regard for law and order and believe in the decencies. They have pride, and they have an appreciation for the ordinary beauties of life that are often wholly neglected by those who have many things to worry about.

Most of our pioneers belonged to this brotherhood of the poor. Freedom is defended mostly by them. Their children are the builders of states and nations. Up from their midst rise the great of this earth whom we delight to honor. In America most of the leaders have had a humble origin. Many of the Presidents of the United States came from poor families. Jackson, Lincoln, Garfield, Johnson, to name but a few.

The "Who's Who" books would be small indeed in their brief biographies were it not for the instances of those who were born poor, but who rose to heights of honor and distinction through self-reliance and a determined will.

Our literature is enriched by those who were once poor and full of struggle. The same thing is true in the arts, science, research, and business. The dynamic giant of business, Henry J. Kaiser, was once a photographer! And he was so poor that when he fell in love he had to move swiftly to keep his chosen treasure as his own. He had to hurdle parental rule! But that, apparently, was fun for this indomitable human being.

Mr. Henry Ford came from fine, but poor parents. He once showed me a contract he had made with a Detroit concern, about 1900, that called for a salary to him of but $150 a month. And from his great organization have risen an endless number of able and wealthy men that were as poor as he when they came with him—but that brotherhood stood. There is nothing to stop the ambition of the worthy worker.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "God's Tears."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Greek Wedding Is Elaborate Affair: A wedding of unusual prominence in Greek Catholic circles here took place Monday evening at 11 o'clock when Miss Emma Valawanz, of Reading, was united in marriage to Steven Svarnas, one of the proprietors of the American Restaurant here.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Nicholas Papavasition, of Lancaster, at the home of Chris Mitchell, co-partner of Mr. Svarnas.

Preceding the marriage ceremony, Audrey Louise, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Mitchell was baptized into the Greek Catholic church. John Highland was godfather while a number of other relatives were attendants.

World Fliers Hop-Off from Bolling Field (By Associated Press), Washington, Sept. 13.—The Army world fliers began the last stage of their journey today, hopping off from Bolling Field for Dayton, Ohio, at 10:50 Eastern standard time.

During preliminary maneuvers about the field, the tail skid of the flag plane, piloted by Lieutenant L. H. Smith, was slightly damaged, but the task of repairing it was only the work of a few minutes.

Adams County Responds on Friday to Defense Day Call of Uncle Sam: Gettysburg and Adams county did its bit again for Uncle Sam Friday afternoon as this county was called upon so often during the hectic days of the World War.

The lack of a real, definite motive back of the movement, other than a desire of the War Department to learn the nation's man-power in peace times, did not serve as a bar to the whole-hearted exhibition in Gettysburg, in which some two thousand men, women and children participated.

SPLENDID FARADE

The parade was all and more than was expected of it. Men of military age—18 to 45 years—turned out in large numbers to fill to overflowing the skeleton ranks of the 316th rifle company, 79th division, commanded by William G. Weaver, and the 79th Tank Company, in command of Robert E. Lee. . . .

700 RESPOND

Major Edgar A. Miller, chairman of the military committee, after witnessing the parade, telegraphed Adams county's quota to the War Department at Washington at 700 men. Many enlisted for the day, but did not march in the parade.

Captain S. C. Thompson, commandant of the R.O.T.C. unit at Gettysburg college, and reserve officers John Slaybaugh and William Timmins were grand marshals of the parade.

Oppose Pacifism (By Associated Press), Atlantic City, Sept. 11.—The annual national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars went on record today as opposed to pacifism and demanding an adequate military and Naval defense policy.

Confessed Slayers of Young "Bobby" Franks Sentenced to Life Imprisonment Today (By Associated Press), Criminal Court Building, Chicago, Sept. 10.—Sentences of life imprisonment for the murder of 14-year-old Robert Franks and 99 years if imprisonment for kidnapping the boy were meted out today to Nathaniel Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb by Judge R. Caverly. The youth of the defendants, 18 and 19 years was all that saved them from the noose.

"It was all we could have asked for," said Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the defense.

"There will be no appeal."

Sheriff P. M. Hoff announced that he had received telephone calls giving warning that an attack would be made on his party when he conveyed the youths to the penitentiary.

BULGAR TO PAY FOR DELAYING ALLIED CAUSE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Armistice terms for Bulgaria are now being put into final shape by the Anglo-American-Soviet European Advisory Commission, it was reported today. They are expected to be tougher than the terms imposed on Romania, because Bulgaria was slower to turn against Germany.

The 20-point Romanian document, signed in Moscow and made public by the three Allied governments, is considered here to be relatively lenient. The leniency is attributed to the fact that when Romania broke her alliance with Germany August 24 her troops immediately lined up with the Russian forces fighting Germany.

This is regarded as being in line with Allied promises to Nazi satellites that their postwar existance would be made easier to the extent that they aided the Allied cause. Specifically it is expected to have some effect on Austria, which has become the target of Allied appeals to revolt.

Romanian Terms

The main provisions of the Romanian armistice:

$300,000,000 worth of reparations in oil, timber, machinery, and the like to be turned over to Russia over a six year period.

Agreement that Russia will keep Bessarabia and northern Bucovina which she obtained by a 1940 frontier settlement.

That Romania will return all United Nations property she has taken.

That she will rid herself completely of Fascism and Fascist-type organizations.

On the other side of the ledger Romania regains Transylvania, which Hitler assigned to Hungary in 1940. This is subject to confirmation in the postwar peace settlement. Also Romania escapes military government and military occupation, although she agrees to make available to Russian troops such facilities and supplies as may be necessary for prosecution of the war on Germany.

As in the case of Italy, whose armistice agreement had not yet been made public, an Allied Control Commission (Russian, British, American) is created for Romania with the specific duty of seeing that the armistice terms are lived up to.

Soviet newspapers declared editorially today that the Romanian armistice negotiations, in which Russia, Britain and the United States worked in closest harmony, are good proof that the Allies will settle the peace of Europe in the same spirit of friendly cooperation.

Until Lafayette's time, the Landes region in France was unhealthy marsh land.

21-Month Old Babe Dies Of Gas Burns

Titusville, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP) — Donald William Foster, 21 months, died in Titusville hospital last night from burns suffered when gasoline ignited in a room at his home. Venango county Coroner P. E. Cunningham said the infant upset a can of gasoline used to power the washing machine and the fluid was ignited by the flame of a hot water heater.

The mother, Mrs. Barney Foster, suffered burns in carrying the infant from the burning room.

Indian Division Probes Jap Lines

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, Sept. 14 (AP)—Troops of the Fifth Indian division fighting their way toward Tiddim in western Burma began probing Japanese positions along the Manipur river with the support of Allied aircraft and artillery, headquarters announced today.

Liberator bombers of the Eastern Air command attacked the rail center of Moulmein in central Burma, scoring direct hits on the railway yards, warehouses and river jetties.

Beaufighters struck at traffic on the Mandalay-Lashio railway, damaging locomotives and rolling stock.

MANY SOLDIERS ARE KILLED IN TRAIN COLLISION

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 14 (AP)—At least 25 persons were killed and about 65 injured early today in the collision of two Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad passenger trains near here. Virtually all of the dead and injured were soldiers.

The trains, one the crack Dixie Flyer, south bound and the other a mail and express train, crashed headon during a heavy fog.

The engine, tender, two baggage cars and the first two of three pullmans on the Dixie Flyer left the track and piled up along the roadway. All cars of the other train held the track.

The first two pullmans of the flyer carried only soldiers.

A major, who declined to give his name, said all of the men were overseas airforce veterans, most of whom wore the Purple Heart decoration. He said they were on 30-day furloughs, after which they were to have been taken to redistribution centers.

Car Splits Open

The first pullman, containing 39 soldiers, split open like a melon. Some passengers were pinned in their seats, others were thrown out along the tracks and some were caught beneath other cars. Most of the soldiers and civilians were asleep at the time of the crash.

Through the wreckage and alongside the tracks lay Purple Heart decorations and air medals. Baggage of the soldiers and civilians was strewn for a hundred yards.

A Catholic priest rushed to the scene of the wreck and from there went to the St. Anthony and Union hospitals giving last rites to everyone, regardless of creed.

For several hours after the collision, which occurred at 2:20 a. m. (Central War time) on a single track three miles northeast of here, there were conflicting reports on the number of dead and injured. The fog lay heavy over the scene and bodies were scattered helter skelter.

The 16-car Dixie Flyer, en route to Miami, Florida, had left Chicago at 10:15 p. m. Only passengers carried by the express train were railroad employes. Both trains were moving at the time of the collision.

The total annual tea exports from tea-producing countries are about 810,000,000 pounds.

She met Susan at the station. They immediately liked each other and had a good laugh at the accuracy of Thorny's description. "You'll know Gwen all right. She's the spirit of youth in last year's chassis." And she was. Her clothes were too bright, her hair was lemon yellow instead of the drab brown that nature had intended. Her laugh was rolling and infectious. Everything had a funny side and that was the side Gwen saw first.

They were flashing along Woodward avenue. The sun was bright and warm.

"Do you get into Detroit much," she smiled at Susan, "or does that brother of mine keep your nose to the grindstone?"

Susan said, "Not often. You see my aunt isn't well and needs someone with her."

"The first time Thorny came to see us here he took one look and said, 'My God, Gwen, this is about as homey as the Grand Central Station.'"

"Moderne furnishings haven't penetrated to Midvale yet," Susan laughed. "We're still in the horsehair sofa and whatnot era."

Gwen made a pantomime gesture of pulling her hair out by the roots. "I guess it's okay for others but for me it wouldn't do. I'd be crazier than I am now and when people get to that point they segregate them and make them live in institutions. I have to have the bright lights to keep me sane. That is, at least partially that way."

She waited impatiently while Susan hung up her clothes. They'd just have time to get back downtown, try that tea room for lunch she'd heard so much about and get to the matinee. "It's so wonderful to have a guest these days," she sighed. "It seems all wrong to go about amusing yourself alone this year. I make myself go to Red Cross and the League and all sorts of meetings. But now we're going to fill your days to my heart's content."

Susan laughed. "I'll have to see about my interviews first." She called dutifully but they would not see her until morning. She was glad. The thought of a spree in the city suddenly seemed like a tonic.

It turned out that way. They were as carefree and hilarious as school girls. The luncheon was good and the play was humorous.

"What more could anyone ask?" sighed Gwen as the curtain went down on the second act. "You know I've a wonderful idea!"

"Another?!"

"You inspire me. Why eat at home tonight when we're already downtown and Charley will meet us for dinner at Joe Fortino's. You like spaghetti, don't you?"

"Love it."

Joe's was a little place packed with noisy people and delicious smells. Joe himself greeted Charley Cogswell like a long lost brother. Gwen nudged Susan.

"Look at that," she whispered. "Charley's impervious to the wiles of beautiful women or smart salesmen but is he a pushover for head waiters!"

Susan liked Charley at once. A big blond man of thirty-nine with flashing white teeth and a breezy manner. He and Gwen carried on a continual banter, he responding to her good natured barbs with drawling ease.

"Everything's all right with Lanny Desmond?"

"He hasn't made any complaints so far." Charley winked at Susan. "May drop in later tonight but can't promise."

"We're going to the Book tomorrow night," Gwen crowed happily. "The four of us. Dinner and dancing. Lanny's a wonderful dancer, Susan. I have a feeling you two will take to each other."

"Don't mind her, she's always having feelings," Charley said.

Susan laughed but secretly she was feeling no elation at the thought of meeting a new man. It was transparently kind of Gwen—maybe even Thorny or Dr. Merril had recommended such a cure. But forgetting Erich la Favre wasn't going to be as simple as that.

She was startled out of her painful dreams by Charley's "Excuse me, Susan?"

"Of course."

Charley was getting up, waving to a tall, good-looking man standing at the bar. He explained hurriedly. "It's Chick Malloy. Father left him over a million and I've been after him to buy an annuity for months. If you and Gwen can amuse yourselves a little while, I'll have a couple of drinks with him and go another round."

Gwen gave him a push. "Trot along, sonny boy. From the looks of him right now if you do a little fast pitching he's liable to buy the Fisher Building."

Chapter 7

Thorney's sister in Detroit, Gwen Cogswell, was the perfect antithesis of her older brother. A squat, chubby woman with bright blue eyes in her late thirties.

She met Susan at the station. They immediately liked each other and had a good laugh at the accuracy of Thorny's description. "You'll know Gwen all right. She's the spirit of youth in last year's chassis." And she was. Her clothes were too bright, her hair was lemon yellow instead of the drab brown that nature had intended. Her laugh was rolling and infectious. Everything had a funny side and that was the side Gwen saw first.

They were flashing along Woodward avenue. The sun was bright and warm.

"Do you get into Detroit much," she smiled at Susan, "or does that brother of mine keep your nose to the grindstone?"

Susan said, "Not often. You see my aunt isn't well and needs someone with her."

"That's what Thorny said over the phone."

"What else did he tell you about me?"

Gwen patted Susan's hand, "If I told you, there wouldn't be a hat in Detroit that would fit your head. Thorny thinks you're about tops, you know."

They stopped in front of a large apartment building.

"Here's the diggings," Gwen slid out from behind the wheel. Together they went into the large foyer and took the elevator to the fifth floor.

The apartment was done in blond moderne furnishings and had the same gay, youthful note that characterized Gwen.

"This is lovely!" Susan cried.

"The first time Thorny came to see us here he took one look and said, 'My God, Gwen, this is about as homey as the Grand Central Station.'"

"Moderne furnishings haven't penetrated to Midvale yet," Susan laughed. "We're still in the horsehair sofa and whatnot era."

Gwen made a pantomime gesture of pulling her hair out by the roots. "I guess it's okay for others but for me it wouldn't do. I'd be crazier than I am now and when people get to that point they segregate them and make them live in institutions. I have to have the bright lights to keep me sane. That is, at least partially that way."

She waited impatiently while Susan hung up her clothes. They'd just have time to get back downtown, try that tea room for lunch she'd heard so much about and get to the matinee. "It's so wonderful to have a guest these days," she sighed. "It seems all wrong to go about amusing yourself alone this year. I make myself go to Red Cross and the League and all sorts of meetings. But now we're going to fill your days to my heart's content."

Susan laughed. "I'll have to see about my interviews first." She called dutifully but they would not see her until morning. She was glad. The thought of a spree in the city suddenly seemed like a tonic.

It turned out that way. They were as carefree and hilarious as school girls. The luncheon was good and the play was humorous.

"What more could anyone ask?" sighed Gwen as the curtain went down on the second act. "You know I've a wonderful idea!"

"Another?!"

"You inspire me. Why eat at home tonight when we're already downtown and Charley will meet us for dinner at Joe Fortino's. You like spaghetti, don't you?"

"Love it."

Joe's was a little place packed with noisy people and delicious smells. Joe himself greeted Charley Cogswell like a long lost brother. Gwen nudged Susan.

"Look at that," she whispered. "Charley's impervious to the wiles of beautiful women or smart salesmen but is he a pushover for head waiters!"

Susan liked Charley at once. A big blond man of thirty-nine with flashing white teeth and a breezy manner. He and Gwen carried on a continual banter, he responding to her good natured barbs with drawling ease.

"Everything's all right with Lanny Desmond?"

"He hasn't made any complaints so far." Charley winked at Susan. "May drop in later tonight but can't promise."

"We're going to the Book tomorrow night," Gwen crowed happily. "The four of us. Dinner and dancing. Lanny's a wonderful dancer, Susan. I have a feeling you two will take to each other."

"Don't mind her, she's always having feelings," Charley said.

Susan laughed but secretly she was feeling no elation at the thought of meeting a new man. It was transparently kind of Gwen—maybe even Thorny or Dr. Merril had recommended such a cure. But forgetting Erich la Favre wasn't going to be as simple as that.

She was startled out of her painful dreams by Charley's "Excuse me, Susan?"

"Of course."

Charley was getting up, waving to a tall, good-looking man standing at the bar. He explained hurriedly. "It's Chick Malloy. Father left him over a million and I've been after him to buy an annuity for months. If you and Gwen can amuse yourselves a little while, I'll have a couple of drinks with him and go another round."

Gwen gave him a push. "Trot along, sonny boy. From the looks of him right now if you do a little fast pitching he's liable to buy the Fisher Building."

200 JAPANESE DOWNED IN DAY OVER ISLANDS

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 14 (AP)—Japan's airforce, caught up with in strength along the approaches to Manila, lost more than 200 planes in one day to American fliers raiding the central Philippines from aircraft carriers—with the battle unfinished and first reports fragmentary.

It is indicated that air operations are continuing against strong enemy opposition. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' Wednesday communique said in disclosing that carrier planes were over Cebu, Negros and Panay islands in the Philippines all day Monday.

Monday's raiders moving north to within 200 miles of Manila, shot down more than 50 and wiped out more than 150 planes on the ground, in addition to sinking several cargo ships "in the initial attacks," the communique said.

The unspecified total of sinkings was added to the 89 small cargo boats and sampans sunk or damaged Friday off Mindanao.

Hoarding Planes

Uncovering in strength of Japan's airforce recalled the recent assertion of Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commander of Army airforces in the Pacific ocean areas, that the enemy probably was hoarding his air strength for defense of the Philippines.

The carriers presumably were part of the powerful task forces which, unchallenged by the Japanese Navy, have roamed waters east of the Philippines for a week, during which Palau has been raided repeatedly by planes and twice shelled by warships.

Palau and the southern Philippines were kept under two-way attack. A communique today from General MacArthur reported that his land-based patrol planes bombed an airdrome at Zamboanga on Mindanao, and attacked airfields and a seaplane base at Palau.

Bigger air blows along the southern invasion route to the Philippines were listed against Halmahera, Ceram and Boeroe.

Nimitz' Wednesday communique told of a 26-ton bombing by Seventh Army Airforce Liberators of Iwo Jima, in the Volcano islands, 750 miles south of Tokyo, last Sunday and the sinking of five cargo ships off Shumushu island in the Kuriles, north of Japan, Monday by 11th Army Airforce Mitchells.

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Volunteer workers have made it possible to pack the 1944 crop of small fruits and vegetables "with little or no loss due to manpower factors" Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Manpower Commission said today.

Report Crowd In Berlin Asks Peace

London, Sept. 14 (AP) — The radio of the French forces of the interior at Lyon reported today that German SS (Elite Guard) troops had fired into a crowd of peace demonstrators in Berlin.

The broadcast did not indicate the source of the report and there was no information from other quarters concerning any such demonstration.

A similar report, however, was broadcast later by the French national radio at Lyon, the Ministry of Information said.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

With scheduled opening games of the Eastern League playoffs rained out yesterday for the second day in a row, club managers had little encouragement from the weatherman about prospects for getting under way tonight. The forecast was more rain.

The schedule calls for the best of five eliminations to open at Hartford, where Utica will be the opponent, and at Binghamton, with Albany as the opposition. After two games in those cities, the series will shift to Utica and Albany.

The Gannett Newspapers championship trophy was presented last night to Del Bissonette, manager of pennant-winning Hartford, by Frank E. Gannett, head of the Gannett chain of newspapers.

Bisons Have Light, Speedy Grid Eleven

Lewisburg, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—When Bucknell's grid squad goes into action against Muhlenberg at Allentown Saturday in the opening game of the season the Bisons will present a squad that has more speed but less weight than any team in recent years.

While the Bucknell backfield will average around 181 pounds, which is customary for most Bison squads, the line will only show an average of 185 pounds, at least five pounds under the normal figure for the forward wall.

The Bisons will take to Allentown a genuine pony back in Tony Diottsalvi, of Bridgeport, who stands only five feet four and weighs 137.

200 JAPANESE DOWNED IN DAY OVER ISLANDS

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 14 (AP)—Japan's airforce, caught up with in strength along the approaches to Manila, lost more than 200 planes in one day to American fliers raiding the central Philippines from aircraft carriers—with the battle unfinished and first reports fragmentary.

It is indicated that air operations are continuing against strong enemy opposition, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' Wednesday communique said in disclosing that carrier planes were over Cebu, Negros and Panay islands in the Philippines all day Monday.

Monday's raiders, moving north to within 200 miles of Manila, shot down more than 50 and wiped out more than 150 planes on the ground, in addition to sinking several cargo ships "in the initial attacks," the communique said.

The unspecified total of sinkings was added to the 89 small cargo boats and sampans sunk or damaged Friday off Mindanao.

Hoarding Planes

Uncovering in strength of Japan's airforce recalled the recent assertion of Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commander of Army airforces in the Pacific ocean areas, that the enemy probably was hoarding his air strength for defense of the Philippines.

The carriers presumably were part of the powerful task forces which, unchallenged by the Japanese Navy, have roamed waters east of the Philippines for a week, during which Palau has been raided repeatedly by planes and twice shelled by warships.

Palau and the southern Philippines were kept under two-way attack. A communique today from General MacArthur reported that his land-based patrol planes bombed an airdrome at Zamboanga on Mindanao, and attacked airfields and a seaplane base at Palau.

Bigger air blows along the southern invasion route to the Philippines were listed against Halmahera, Ceram and Boeroe.

Nimitz' Wednesday communique told of a 26-ton bombing by Seventh Army Airforce Liberators of Iwo Jima, in the Volcano islands, 750 miles south of Tokyo, last Sunday and the sinking of five cargo ships off Shumushu island in the Kuriles, north of Japan, Monday by 11th Army Airforce Mitchells.

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Volunteer workers have made it possible to pack the 1944 crop of small fruits and vegetables "with little or no loss due to manpower factors" Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Manpower Commission said today.

Report Crowd In Berlin Asks Peace

London, Sept. 14 (AP) — The radio of the French forces of the interior at Lyon reported today that German SS (Elite Guard) troops had fired into a crowd of peace demonstrators in Berlin.

The broadcast did not indicate the source of the report and there was no information from other quarters concerning any such demonstration.

A similar report, however, was broadcast later by the French national radio at Lyon, the Ministry of Information said.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

With scheduled opening games of the Eastern League playoffs rained out yesterday for the second day in a row, club managers had little encouragement from the weatherman about prospects for getting under way tonight. The forecast was more rain.

The schedule calls for the best of five eliminations to open at Hartford, where Utica will be the opponent, and at Binghamton, with Albany as the opposition. After two games in those cities, the series will shift to Utica and Albany.

The Gannett Newspapers championship trophy was presented last night to Del Bissonette, manager of pennant-winning Hartford, by Frank E. Gannett, head of the Gannett chain of newspapers.

Bisons Have Light, Speedy Grid Eleven

Lewisburg, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—When Bucknell's grid squad goes into action against Muhlenberg at Allentown Saturday in the opening game of the season the Bisons will present a squad that has more speed but less weight than any team in recent years.

While the Bucknell backfield will average around 181 pounds, which is customary for most Bison squads, the line will only show an average of 185 pounds, at least five pounds under the normal figure for the forward wall.

The Bisons will take to Allentown a genuine pony back in Tony Diotisalvi, of Bridgport, who stands only five feet four and weighs 137.

200 JAPANESE DOWNED IN DAY OVER ISLANDS

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 14 (AP)—Japan's airforce, caught up with in strength along the approaches to Manila, lost more than 200 planes in one day to American fliers raiding the central Philippines from aircraft carriers—with the battle unfinished and first reports fragmentary.

It is indicated that air operations are continuing against strong enemy opposition, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' Wednesday communique said in disclosing that carrier planes were over Cebu, Negros and Panay islands in the Philippines all day Monday.

Monday's raiders, moving north to within 200 miles of Manila, shot down more than 50 and wiped out more than 150 planes on the ground, in addition to sinking several cargo ships "in the initial attacks," the communique said.

The unspecified total of sinkings was added to the 89 small cargo boats and sampans sunk or damaged Friday off Mindanao.

Hoarding Planes

Uncovering in strength of Japan's airforce recalled the recent assertion of Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commander of Army airforces in the Pacific ocean areas, that the enemy probably was hoarding his air strength for defense of the Philippines.

The carriers presumably were part of the powerful task forces which, unchallenged by the Japanese Navy, have roamed waters east of the Philippines for a week, during which Palau has been raided repeatedly by planes and twice shelled by warships.

Palau and the southern Philippines were kept under two-way attack. A communique today from General MacArthur reported that his land-based patrol planes bombed an airdrome at Zamboanga on Mindanao, and attacked airfields and a seaplane base at Palau.

Bigger air blows along the southern invasion route to the Philippines were listed against Halmahera, Ceram and Boeroe.

Nimitz' Wednesday communique told of a 26-ton bombing by Seventh Army Airforce Liberators of Two Jima, in the Volcano islands, 750 miles south of Tokyo, last Sunday and the sinking of five cargo ships off Shumushu island in the Kuriles, north of Japan, Monday by 11th Army Airforce Mitchells.

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Volunteer workers have made it possible to pack the 1944 crop of small fruits and vegetables "with little or no loss due to manpower factors" Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Manpower Commission said today.

Report Crowd In Berlin Asks Peace

London, Sept. 14 (AP) — The radio of the French forces of the interior at Lyon reported today that German SS (Elite Guard) troops had fired into a crowd of peace demonstrators in Berlin.

The broadcast did not indicate the source of the report and there was no information from other quarters concerning any such demonstration.

A similar report, however, was broadcast later by the French national radio at Lyon, the Ministry of Information said.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

With scheduled opening games of the Eastern League playoffs rained out yesterday for the second day in a row, club managers had little encouragement from the weatherman about prospects for getting under way tonight. The forecast was more rain.

The schedule calls for the best of five eliminations to open at Hartford, where Utica will be the opponent, and at Binghamton, with Albany as the opposition. After two games in those cities, the series will shift to Utica and Albany.

The Gannett Newspapers championship trophy was presented last night to Del Bissonette, manager of pennant-winning Hartford, by Frank E. Gannett, head of the Gannett chain of newspapers.

Bisons Have Light, Speedy Grid Eleven

Lewisburg, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—When Bucknell's grid squad goes into action against Muhlenberg at Allentown Saturday in the opening game of the season the Bisons will present a squad that has more speed but less weight than any team in recent years.

While the Bucknell backfield will average around 181 pounds, which is customary for most Bison squads, the line will only show an average of 185 pounds, at least five pounds under the normal figure for the forward wall.

The Bisons will take to Allentown a genuine pony back in Tony Diotisalvi, of Bridgport, who stands only five feet four and weighs 137.

Early Shopping For Those In Service Is Popular Theme Throughout County

ONE MONTH TO MAIL PARCELS OUTSIDE U. S.

Thousands of Adams countians are doing their Christmas shopping early this year—much earlier than usual because the gifts they are buying are to be shipped overseas to members of their families or friends serving in the armed forces.

Uncle Sam's postoffice department has decreed that packages intended for delivery by Christmas should be mailed between September 15 and October 15—and not later than the mid-October deadline.

Servicemen in every war theater overseas have been asked what they would most like to receive at Christmastime—next to a peacetime discharge to return to their homes—and the results of the surveys have been compiled so that merchants can make available the gifts that will please the GI Joes and Janes most.

General Favorite

Scores of articles are on the "acceptable" list for mailing to most parts of the world but all servicemen everywhere will welcome, at Christmas time and any other time of the year, letters from home, snapshots, pocketsize books and games, camera film, home-town newspapers and playing cards.

The list of articles that are taboo for shipment overseas is short but will be strictly enforced: Perishable foods, intoxicants, weapons, poisons and inflammables like lighter fluids.

Selection of the proper present is no more important than the packing, wrapping and addressing and the postoffice department has issued careful instructions on that part of the Christmas gift procedure.

Few Will Be Home Soon

Even though the end of the war in Europe seems near, and even if the war should end in that theater during the special Christmas mailing period, Adams countians realize that many or most of our armed forces will remain overseas past Christmas and will keep the gifts rolling toward them.

Officials at Washington have announced that after the fall of Germany, the troops in the European area will be demobilized gradually. That will keep many of them overseas considerably past Christmas.

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective Service, has said that between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 men will be discharged after the Nazis fall. But, he added, if the Army discharged them at the fast rate of 1,000 per hour it would still take 10 months to send them all home.

Stores Are Ready

If peace in Europe should come before Christmas, the holiday message and gift will be doubly welcome to the happy doughboy who will be specially glad to hear from home.

Adams county stores have stocked their shelves with many articles that the soldiers have said they hope may be in their Christmas packages.

Such things as pipe tobacco, cigarettes, razor blades, tooth paste, flashlights, fountain pens and stationery are high on the list. Others include cheese, hard candy, fruit cake, cookies, chocolate bars, grocery snacks, tinned popcorn, jellies, marshmallows, potato chips, lighters, pipes and pipe cleaners, cigars, electric razors, razors, shaving soap, cleansing tissues, sweaters, mufflers, GI shirts, handkerchiefs, long shoelaces, socks, underwear, watches and billfolds.

Hope For Same Things

For a great many of the county men and women overseas their Christmas hopes are for the same sort of things they wanted when they were home—with the simple restrictions of shipping space and durability to be taken into consideration.

Cookies for instance would be welcome everywhere but cookies that are to go overseas are ones that will travel well, can be packed compactly and won't break up.

The Christmas greetings that are being shown for the men and women overseas stress the theme of "things to come home to." Gone are the cards with Santa Claus riding a battleship or a liferaft or parachuting to earth with a pack from his plane. This year's cards show him firmly planted on the old homestead. They remind the servicemen of home, children, friends, church and the old home town.

Greeting cards, however, are not to be mailed during the period for shipping packages, or they will arrive far ahead of the Christmas season. The envelopes must be sealed.—HCM.

SKIN LOTIONS ARE NICE GIFTS

Wondering what to send him? That's no problem, if you consider for a moment what "punishment" his skin must be taking from icy wind, burning sun, stinging salt spray, heavy equipment or perhaps even from insect pests.

Boys overseas have been writing back enthusiastic letters about a fine old line of fragrant, mildly medicated skin preparations which have provided comfort, protection and relief to tender and irritated skins for more than three generations. Your boy, too, will be grateful if you include a few cakes of triple-milled, emollient soap, that not only removes grime thoroughly but also helps bring back lustre and softness to dry or neglected hair.

All-purpose talcum is another welcome comfort. Borated powder, with a fresh, clean fragrance does more than remove after-shave effects . . . it actually helps to make him feel "spruced up" and guards against unpleasant perspiration and chafing from heavy clothing.

And he'll find a score of daily uses for a jar of ointment, which soothes chapped skin or aching feet and helps relieve cuts and scratches too. Some of the boys in the Pacific say it helps alleviate what they somewhat gruesomely call "jungle rot." Shave sticks also rate high, especially those that give smooth, comfortable shaves even when beards are stiff and stubborn after weeks in the field or at sea.

Aye, aye or yes, sir . . . in-service toiletries are okay, but watch your timing, please—make sure they're mailed before Oct. 15th.

Complete Address Needed On Packages

Addresses on Christmas gifts to be mailed must be legible, in typewriting or ink. Copies of sales slips of retail stores should not be used as address labels. A slip containing the complete address should be enclosed in the parcel to permit identification of the addressee in the event the outer wrapper becomes torn, mutilated or destroyed in transit.

Parcels addressed to overseas Army personnel should show full name, grade, Army serial number, service organization and unit and APO number care of postmaster.

$547,000,000 State Post-War Projects

Pittsburgh, Sept. 14 (AP)—Post-war projects amounting to $547,000,000 have been planned by communities through the state, Francis A. Pitkin, executive director of the Pennsylvania State Planning board, said today.

Only $13,000,000 of this figure, however, is really ready for immediate construction work, he told the Southwestern Institute of Municipal Postwar Planning.

Dr. D. H. Kurtzman, director of research for the Western division of the Pennsylvania Economy league, said each municipality should first reduce its present debt to the lowest possible level and then make long-range plans in keeping with its ability to pay.

2,500 Are Affected By Illegal Strike

Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—A walkout, termed unauthorized by the CIO-United Steelworkers union, among 2,500 employes at the Walworth Manufacturing Co. plant entered its second day today.

A spokesman for the strikers said the men are protesting "delaying tactics" of the company and the War Labor Board in a wage dispute case.

The spokesman said the strike is the resumption of a work stoppage of several months ago. The men resumed work at that time, he said, with the understanding they would receive wage increases and retroactive pay after plant jobs had been evaluated.

Works Manager C. L. Lane said the company insists the operations on war contracts must continue.

DAINTY TOUCH WILL DELIGHT WAC, WAVE, ETC.

Just because a girl's been in uniform for months at a time doesn't mean she's forgotten the little feminine wiles that distinguish the female of the species! Far from it, and as a matter of fact, GI trimness does a lot to encourage good grooming as a WAC, WAVE, SPAR or MARINE can tell you. There's no law in any of the services that say a girl can't look her most attractive even though she does this without benefit of frills and frou-frou.

Besides, letters from girls all over the globe . . . starting with camps and navy bases in the States, and extending to almost every theatre of the war, reveal that American girls in uniform are still very much interested in all the accessories to glamour. So now that we're all in the throes of shopping for overseas Christmas gifts, a word to worthy, if not always too wise relatives and friends, may be in order.

Wearables Always "Click"

Of course she always did adore something to wear for Christmas. And though you can't send her civilian swish in coats, dresses or intimate apparel, you can find plenty of her favorite items that she can [illegible] and much she'll treasure as enthusiastically as ever.

[illegible] girls are girls, they'll [illegible] for beauty gifts. At [illegible] these are always way up [illegible] of preferences made up [illegible] American girls in or out of uniform. Creams, make-up films and lotions are all being designed to do special jobs in climates of both extreme heat and drying cold.

Toiletry aprons and compact beauty kits are still getting more of a hand than ever from our servicewomen, too. There's something about dressing table allure that does something for feminine morale regardless of locale! Kits and aprons are to be found in considerable variety at cosmetic and toiletry departments.

Early Shopping For Those In Service Is Popular Theme Throughout County

ONE MONTH TO MAIL PARCELS OUTSIDE U. S.

Thousands of Adams countians are doing their Christmas shopping early this year—much earlier than usual because the gifts they are buying are to be shipped overseas to members of their families or friends serving in the armed forces.

Uncle Sam's postoffice department has decreed that packages intended for delivery by Christmas should be mailed between September 15 and October 15—and not later than the mid-October deadline.

Servicemen in every war theater overseas have been asked what they would most like to receive at Christmastime—next to a peacetime discharge to return to their homes—and the results of the surveys have been compiled so that merchants can make available the gifts that will please the GI Joes and Janes most.

General Favorite

Scores of articles are on the "acceptable" list for mailing to most parts of the world but all servicemen everywhere will welcome, at Christmas time and any other time of the year, letters from home, snapshots, pocketsize books and games, camera film, home-town newspapers and playing cards.

The list of articles that are taboo for shipment overseas is short but will be strictly enforced: Perishable foods, intoxicants, weapons, poisons and inflammables like lighter fluids.

Selection of the proper present is no more important than the packing, wrapping and addressing and the postoffice department has issued careful instructions on that part of the Christmas gift procedure.

Few Will Be Home Soon

Even though the end of the war in Europe seems near, and even if the war should end in that theater during the special Christmas mailing period, Adams countians realize that many or most of our armed forces will remain overseas past Christmas and will keep the gifts rolling toward them.

Officials at Washington have announced that after the fall of Germany, the troops in the European area will be demobilized gradually. That will keep many of them overseas considerably past Christmas.

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective Service, has said that between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 men will be discharged after the Nazis fall. But, he added, if the Army discharged them at the fast rate of 1,000 per hour it would still take 10 months to send them all home.

Stores Are Ready

If peace in Europe should come before Christmas, the holiday message and gift will be doubly welcome to the happy doughboy who will be specially glad to hear from home.

Adams county stores have stocked their shelves with many articles that the soldiers have said they hope may be in their Christmas packages.

Such things as pipe tobacco, cigarettes, razor blades, tooth paste, flashlights, fountain pens and stationery are high on the list. Others include cheese, hard candy, fruit cake, cookies, chocolate bars, grocery snacks, tinned popcorn, jellies, marshmallows, potato chips, lighters, pipes and pipe cleaners, cigars, electric razors, razors, shaving soap, cleansing tissues, sweaters, mufflers, GI shirts, handkerchiefs, long shoelaces, socks, underwear, watches and billfolds.

Hope For Same Things

For a great many of the county men and women overseas their Christmas hopes are for the same sort of things they wanted when they were home—with the simple restrictions of shipping space and durability to be taken into consideration.

Cookies for instance would be welcome everywhere but cookies that are to go overseas are ones that will travel well, can be packed compactly and won't break up.

The Christmas greetings that are being shown for the men and women overseas stress the theme of "things to come home to." Gone are the cards with Santa Claus riding a battleship or a liferaft or parachuting to earth with a pack from his plane. This year's cards show him firmly planted on the old homestead. They remind the servicemen of home, children, friends, church and the old home town.

Greeting cards, however, are not to be mailed during the period for shipping packages, or they will arrive far ahead of the Christmas season. The envelopes must be sealed.—HCM.

SKIN LOTIONS ARE NICE GIFTS

Wondering what to send him? That's no problem, if you consider for a moment what "punishment" his skin must be taking from icy wind, burning sun, stinging salt spray, heavy equipment or perhaps even from insect pests.

Boys overseas have been writing back enthusiastic letters about a fine old line of fragrant, mildly medicated skin preparations which have provided comfort, protection and relief to tender and irritated skins for more than three generations. Your boy, too, will be grateful if you include a few cakes of triple-milled, emollient soap, that not only removes grime thoroughly but also helps bring back lustre and softness to dry or neglected hair.

All-purpose talcum is another welcome comfort. Borated powder, with a fresh, clean fragrance does more than remove after-shave effects . . . it actually helps to make him feel "spruced up" and guards against unpleasant perspiration and chafing from heavy clothing.

And he'll find a score of daily uses for a jar of ointment, which soothes chapped skin or aching feet and helps relieve cuts and scratches too. Some of the boys in the Pacific say it helps alleviate what they somewhat gruesomely call "jungle rot." Shave sticks also rate high, especially those that give smooth, comfortable shaves even when beards are stiff and stubborn after weeks in the field or at sea.

Aye, aye or yes, sir . . . in-service toiletries are okay, but watch your timing, please—make sure they're mailed before Oct. 15th.

Complete Address Needed On Packages

Addresses on Christmas gifts to be mailed must be legible, in typewriting or ink. Copies of sales slips of retail stores should not be used as address labels. A slip containing the complete address should be enclosed in the parcel to permit identification of the addressee in the event the outer wrapper becomes torn, mutilated or destroyed in transit.

Parcels addressed to overseas Army personnel should show full name, grade, Army serial number, service organization and unit and APO number care of postmaster.

$547,000,000 State Post-War Projects

Pittsburgh, Sept. 14 (AP)—Postwar projects amounting to $547,000,000 have been planned by communities through the state. Francis A. Pitkin, executive director of the Pennsylvania State Planning board, said today.

Only $13,000,000 of this figure, however, is really ready for immediate construction work, he told the Southwestern Institute of Municipal Postwar Planning.

Dr. D. H. Kurgzman, director of research for the Western division of the Pennsylvania Economy league, said each municipality should first reduce its present debt to the lowest possible level and then make long-range plans in keeping with its ability to pay.

2,500 Are Affected By Illegal Strike

Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—A walkout, termed unauthorized by the CIO-United Steelworkers union, among 2,500 employes at the Walworth Manufacturing Co. plant entered its second day today.

A spokesman for the strikers said the men are protesting "delaying tactics" of the company and the War Labor Board in a wage dispute case.

The spokesman said the strike is the resumption of a work stoppage of several months ago. The men resumed work at that time, he said, with the understanding they would receive wage increases and retroactive pay after plant jobs had been evaluated.

Works Manager C. L. Lane said the company insists the operations on war contracts must continue.

DAINTY TOUCH WILL DELIGHT WAC, WAVE, ETC.

Just because a girl's been in uniform for months at a time doesn't mean she's forgotten the little feminine wiles that distinuish the female of the species! Far from it, and, as a matter of fact, GI trimness does a lot to encourage good grooming, as a WAC, WAVE, SPAR or MARINE can tell you. There's no law in any of the services that say a girl can't look her most attractive, even though she does this without benefit of frills and froufrou.

Besides, letters from girls all over the globe . . . starting with camps and navy bases in the States, and extending to almost every theatre of the war, reveal that American girls in uniform are still very much interested in all the accessories to glamour. So now that we're all in the throes of shopping for overseas Christmas gifts, a word to worthy, if not always too wise relatives and friends, may be in order.

Wearables Always "Click"

Of course she always did adore something to wear for Christmas. And though you can't send her civilian swish in coats, dresses or intimate apparel, you can find plenty of her favorite items that she can wear, and which she'll receive as enthusiastically as ever.

Well-cut slips of good fabrics are always wanted for off-duty as well as regulation wear. You can choose the dainty pastels that she launders herself, or you might send a dark color to go under her navy or khaki uniform. Then there are any number of fine, well-made robes in wool and rayon mixtures that are sure to win her thanks not just at Christmas but as long as she's in service. These come in a variety of classic colors, all assets to her GI dormitory life.

If by any chance she's in some torrid clime, and you happen to know her size, a bathing suit will just about thrill her to pieces, we're told! Maybe one of the new sarong types wouldn't cut a dash with all and sundry, especially if she has any native competition!

Of Course, Cosmetics

As long as girls are girls, they'll probably "go" for beauty gifts. At any rate, these are always way up on any list of preferences made up by American girls, in or out of uniform. And shopping stay-at-homes have never had a more varied selection of attractive beauty accessories and make-up aids to choose from. Many of these, in addition to being glamorously packaged and charmingly fragrant, have the double-duty appeal of being protective to skin and complexion. Creams, make-up films and lotions are all being designed to do special jobs in climates of both extreme heat and drying cold.

Toiletry aprons and compact beauty kits are still getting more of a hand than ever from our service-women, too. There's something about dressing table allure that does something for feminine morale, regardless of locale! Kits and aprons are to be found in considerable variety at cosmetic and toiletry departments.

Drought Slashes Pa. Corn Crop

Harrisburg, Sept. 14 (AP)—A loss of 10,000,000 bushels of corn in Pennsylvania was attributed Wednesday by federal-state crop reporting service to the continued hot, dry weather of July and August.

Other field crops that were reduced as result of the long summer drought were potatoes, buckwheat, and fruit, with tobacco the only crop showing a gain as of September 1.

Britain recognized Egypt as a sovereign independent state in 1922.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 14 (AP)—Chains and tie plates found fastened to the track of the Conemaugh division of the Pennsylvania railroad near Parkers Landing led railroad police Wednesday to investigate whether the act was a prank or a deliberate attempt to wreck a train.

Many of these, in addition to being glamorously packaged and charmingly fragrant, have the double-duty appeal of being protective to skin and complexion. Creams, make-up films and lotions are all being designed to do special jobs in climates of both extreme heat and drying cold.

Toiletry aprons and compact beauty kits are still getting more of a hand than ever from our service-women, too. There's something about dressing table allure that does something for feminine morale, regardless of locale! Kits and aprons are to be found in considerable variety at cosmetic and toiletry departments.

Drought Slashes Pa. Corn Crop

Harrisburg, Sept. 14 (AP)—A loss of 10,000,000 bushels of corn in Pennsylvania was attributed Wednesday by federal-state crop reporting service to the continued hot, dry weather of July and August.

Other field crops that were reduced as result of the long summer drought were potatoes, buckwheat, and fruit, with tobacco the only crop showing a gain as of September 1.

Britain recognized Egypt as a sovereign independent state in 1922.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 14 (AP)—Chains and tie plates found fastened to the track of the Conemaugh division of the Pennsylvania railroad near Parkers Landing led railroad police Wednesday to investigate whether the act was a prank or a deliberate attempt to wreck a train.

WOMAN CHIEF STATE WITNESS

Mercer, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—The prosecution said it expected to call William Morell, stocky 21-year-old farmhand, to the stand today in the trial of blonde Janice Graham charged with murder in the triple slayings at a dairy farm near here last October 7.

Morell, now awaiting sentence on a manslaughter conviction, was expected to recite testimony he had already given at his own trial in December.

At that time, he was acquitted of murder charges in the shotgun killings of Mrs. Catherine Wilson, 78, and Robert McKay, 71. The manslaughter conviction resulted from the strangulation death of Mrs. Helen Wilson, 43-year-old wife of the farm owner, Everett N. Wilson.

During yesterday's proceedings, the commonwealth introduced Mrs. Anna Racioppo, tenant of a neighboring farm, as its chief witness. She testified that Morell was herding cattle on a pasture opposite her home at the time the slayings are alleged to have occurred.

Setting the time at "ten minutes after eleven—I know because I stepped around to look at the clock," Mrs. Racioppo testified:

"I stepped outside and saw Mr. Morell across the pasture chasing cattle."

"Did you notice anything that particularly attracted your attention to Morell?" Assistant Prosecutor Donavan Henry asked Mrs. Racioppo.

She replied in the affirmative, adding:

The ancestors of three American presidents were Dutch — Martin Van Buren, Theodore Roosevelt and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

FDR - CHURCHILL MAY REVEAL JAP WARFARE PLANS

By W. L. BEALE, JR.

Quebec, Sept. 14 (AP)—A formal statement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill outlining Allied objectives in the war with Japan before they part this week-end appeared possible today as their second historic conference in Quebec's towering citadel entered its final phase.

While no positive official commitment has been made, there seemed reason to believe the Allied leaders might deem the time ripe for a pronouncement setting forth the aims of which American B-29 Super-Fortresses already have given the Japanese homeland an inkling.

Military and naval strategy for crumbling Japan into dust already is charted and the details are being filled in by the British-American chiefs of staff in the Chateau Frontenac. The personal Roosevelt-Churchill talks now range over unbounded questions of winning a war against Nazi and Japanese militarism and the inevitable post-war economic difficulties.

Command Is Secret

It can now be reported from sources reflecting the combined chiefs of staff that:

1. Pacific command problems were settled before the President and Prime Minister sat down together here.

2. The question of an hemispheric Pacific commander has not arisen and will not be considered because—

3. For immediate stages of the Pacific war the command already has been wrapped up in the red tape of official approval.

This word is not interpreted to mean that before Japan's ultimate defeat a top strategic commander will not be needed. But in the current phase of gobbling Japan's island defenses, pyramiding strength under Gen. Douglas MacArthur for reconquest of the Philippines, nursing Chinese resistance and plotting new land and air assaults in Malaya, command disposals sealed at Roosevelt-MacArthur-Nimitz talks in Pearl Harbor are expected to prevail.

Eden to Attend

This Hawaiian conference, it is reported by some who attended, allotted the Philippines to MacArthur and the initial bold strike at the Japanese home islands to Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's gigantic Navy. After guns and bombs have told the story of their efforts, top command jobs may be reconsidered.

From London came word that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to arrive in Quebec almost immediately to participate in the talks between President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and their chiefs of staff.

Promise Measures To Protect Fish

Harrissburg, Sept. 14 (AP)—Fish Commissioner C. A. French said Wednesday death of some 3,800 fish in Possum creek had been traced to refuse from a tomato canning plant in Adams county and the owners had promised to take protective measures to prevent a recurrance.

"The pump they were using was not big enough to take care of the discharge and they are getting a bigger one," French said.

The fish commissioner added that "steps were taken to cure the condition after representatives of the attorney general's office and the sanitary water board visited the plant."

FDR - CHURCHILL MAY REVEAL JAP WARFARE PLANS

By W. L. BEALE, JR.

Quebec, Sept. 14 (AP)—A formal statement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill outlining Allied objectives in the war with Japan before they part this week-end appeared possible today as their second historic conference in Quebec's towering citadel intered its final phase.

While no positive official commitment has been made, there seemed reason to believe the Allied leaders might deem the time ripe for a pronouncement setting forth the aims of which American B-29 Super-Fortresses already have given the Japanese homeland an inkling.

Military and naval strategy for crumbling Japan into dust already is charted and the details are being filled in by the British-American chiefs of staff in the Chateau Frontenac. The personal Roosevelt-Churchill talks now range over unbounded questions of winning a war against Nazi and Japanese militarism and the inevitable post-war economic difficulties.

Command Is Secret

It can now be reported from sources reflecting the combined chiefs of staff that:

1. Pacific command problems were settled before the President and Prime Minister sat down together here.

2. The question of an hemispheric Pacific commander has not arisen and will not be considered because—

3. For immediate stages of the Pacific war the command already has been wrapped up in the red tape of official approval.

This word is not interpreted to mean that before Japan's ultimate defeat a top strategic commander will not be needed. But in the current phase of gobbling Japan's island defenses, pyramiding strength under Gen Douglas MacArthur for reconquest of the Philippines, nursing Chinese resistance and plotting new land and air assaults in Malaya, command disposals sealed at Roosevelt-MacArthur-Nimitz talks in Pearl Harbor are expected to prevail.

Eden to Attend

This Hawaiian conference, it is reported by some who attended, allotted the Philippines to MacArthur and the initial bold strike at the Japanese home islands to Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's gigantic Navy. After guns and bombs have told the story of their efforts, top command jobs may be reconsidered.

From London came word that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to arrive in Quebec almost immediately to participate in the talks between President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and their chiefs of staff.

Promise Measures To Protect Fish

Harrissburg, Sept. 14 (AP)—Fish Commissioner C. A. French said Wednesday death of some 3,800 fish in Possum creek had been traced to refuse from a tomato canning plant in Adams county and the owners had promised to take protective measures to prevent a recurrance.

"The pump they were using was not big enough to take care of the discharge and they are getting a bigger one," French said.

The fish commissioner added that "steps were taken to cure the condition after representatives of the attorney general's office and the sanitary water board visited the plant."

Story Of Founding Of Historic Emmitsburg, Maryland

SKATES FOR BABY—Tiny Jill Marie Shipstad is the recipient of her first pair of ice skates, sent by a friend of her famous skating parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shipstad.

Mt. St. Mary's college is about fifty miles from Baltimore and is reached by the Western Maryland Railroad and the Emmitsburg branch that leaves the main line at Rocky Ridge; the college is situated at the foot of the eastern spur of Catoctin, the Blue Ridge mountains, which separate the valley of Hagerstown from the plain through which flows the Monocacy river. The spires of Gettysburg and the hills of the famous battlefield are visible from Indian Lookout and Carrick's Knob, the highest points of the mountain that shelters the college in the winter and overshadows it so gracefully on summer evenings. The celebrated mother house of the Sisters of Charity, founded by Madame Seton, is in the vicinity.

Ideal Location

The macadamized road running from Emmitsburg about two miles away to Frederick, passes the college. The quiet seclusion of the college, its freedom from distractions of cities and the reputation it enjoys from the great number of its distinguished graduates have turned towards it the attention of parents who are more than usually solicitous for the moral welfare and intellectual development of their children.

The college was founded in 1808 by Rev. John Dubois as a preparatory school for St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, lay students being afterward admitted, and the teaching partly done by the seminarians. Father Dubois enlarged the scope of the institution and established classes of philosophy and theology, so as to retain his assistant teachers as long as possible. This finally led to the organization of the college and seminary on a basis of entire independence, to be conducted by an association of priests under the jurisdiction and protection of the Archbishop of Baltimore: Cardinal Gibbons is one of the most zealous promoters of the welfare of the college, and has proved himself on more than one critical occasion its most prudent counsellor and practical friend.

The college has a charter from the state of Maryland, dating back to A.D. 1830, so that, after Georgetown, it is the oldest Catholic college in the United States. The college buildings were burned down on June 6th, 1824, but were immediately rebuilt; not, however, without incurring a very heavy debt, which was carried with comparative ease till the disastrous period of the Civil War, when the patrons of the college in the southern states, were forced to discontinue their aid. This soon brought on a crisis which was successfully met by the timely donations of the alumni, so that today its financial standing is second to that of no similar institution in the country.

Many improvements have been made during the last quarter of a century; the old buildings enlarged and brought up to date, a splendid gymnasium with swimming pool, and what is perhaps the most beautiful athletic field in the Union. At present a new and vast edifice is rising, which is intended for theological students. The roll for 1905 and 1906 is the largest known in the history of the college, there having been 250 lay students and 45 seminarians, while the graduates of 1906 were 15 in number.

Wrapper Factory

Spangler, the hotel man, and Albert Maxwell were the two men who solicited subscriptions for stock to start a factory. The object was to rent a room and buy a gasoline engine and offer this inducement to get an enterprise started. The business men subscribed and the project was started over Zimmerman's warehouse, Albert Maxwell putting in 50 machines; he continued successfully from 1900 till 1904, when he sold out and moved to Charlestown, W. Va. Samuel Rowe put in machines and removed the engine to Gelwicks Hall, where he continued the manufacture of wrapper to date.

Pop Factory

In the spring of 1965 A. Stonesifer, of Harney, Md., opened a pop bottling establishment in the brick house on alley in Shields' Addition, supplying his goods to the town and hauling his pop to other places; an enterprise of profit to the town.

Harrisburg, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Historical commission reports that the state has 522 chaplains now serving in the U. S. Army. The list includes 327 Protestant ministers, 176 Catholic priests, and 19 Jewish rabbis.

EMMITSBURG

Tells Of Train Trip

"The train is well made (German by the way) but it is in the European tradition, with compartments designed to hold from two to six people, depending upon the class of travel, first class being really sumptuous, even more luxurious than our pullmans. But, third class (where we traveled by the way) consists of hard wooden benches running crosswise in the train. We were not crowded, but we were not comfortable either. Second and first class carriages can be converted for sleeping. We too could sleep, but only stretched out on the hard benches.

"The better accommodations are given to those who travel the longest distances. For that reason, native soldiers and those of some of the other countries which have troops here rode in style, while we poor officers suffered the indignity of third class. But, we survived. The worst part of it was that we were not allowed to bring our bed roll and footlocker with us. They remained on the platform, marked as to our destination, with only our names to identify the various pieces, with no receipts given us, and only the promise of the dispatching officer that they would ever be returned to us.

"Just as we were about to start, here comes a soldier, a Pfc. mind you, with a whole retinue of native coolies bearing his luggage, one carried the soldier's cot and the T-frame for his mosquito net, another bore on his back what looked like an ice chest but was really the soldier's footlocker (complete with legs) a third carried his barracks bag, and a fourth bore his personal belongings. The American soldier himself carried only his rifle. He's been around before that boy. It takes travel to learn.

Strange Customs

"It was on the train that we got our first look at the Persian squatter, and it was really a treat. They do not have modern toilets such as ours and they scorn their use when one is offered them. Persian style is different. Four American nurses who rode the train got their first experience, and judging from the expressions on their faces it is evident that they were not pleased.

"The train stops frequently, for what reason I do not know, and it is no novelty to see a passenger hop off and make a deal for a sheep or a goat with someone standing outside, and then blithely bring his purchase aboard the train with him. We did not have to share our compartment with one of them, thankful. We crossed the desert coming here (that much I can tell you) and woke up (for I did manage to get a little sleep) in a town surrounded by snow-capped mountains. I had a sore back (I think I've hurt it again) and the trip in the truck from there to here pained me terribly."

135 Degrees In The Shade

"July 26th: I was compelled to enter the hospital which is very modern, well equipped and air conditioned, such being most desirable in view of the present temperature of 135 degrees in the shade. Sort of make the 95 degree you mentioned rather insignificant. My trip here was made by ambulance and railroad. The ambulance was made in England, and was a double decker with two lines of leather unholstered bunks, both top and bottom, and was equipped with all conveniences. The wounded men are being most efficiently treated and the extent and speed of the development of the medical care of the injured soldiers is astounding.

"I am in a room with two American aviators who were wounded over Germany, and a Russian captain, who is unable to speak or understand English, but knows Persian. I know more Persian than the doctor or nurses, and I act as his interpreter, now and then making a mistake in the kind of treatment desired such as thinking that he wished castor oil, but the captain quickly corrected that mistake castor oil tastes the same in all languages."

Had To Chase Natives

"Aug. 15, 1944—Today while buying potatoes I went to a nearby village. If you have been over the back mountain road with Jane, I mean the real back mountain roads, you may have traveled over some like I traveled today. And if you have spied a collection of mud huts, enclosed in a mud fence; have seen donkeys, goats, sheep and oxen living in those huts; have seen dirty, half-naked children and young boys and girls playing (or washing) in a muddy stream in the middle of the road, then you have seen something like I saw this day. The children, the men and women who live in those huts must also be scabrous, filled with lice; have hair which falls out in patches; have eyes half shut with oozing pus; claw-like hands, arms like gnarled vines and teeth like vultures. Such is the back-country of Persia.

"I took a reconnaissance car and was followed by five trucks.

"I also had a sergeant with me, and both were armed with pistols. The natives were friendly as they could be, and we had our contractor with us who speaks fair English. However, the Military Police require that we go armed every time we leave the camp and go into the back country.

Hospitable Chief

"One of the principal reasons for the weapons is that most of the Iranii will pick up and otherwise take anything they can get their hands on or around. I believe there must be something in their religion which tells them that thieving is good, if you don't get caught at it. You cannot turn your back from your vehicle without finding it swarming with natives. We lost a radiator cap from under the hood to them this trip, and more would have followed had I not brandished the pistol to see them scamper away. Some one was left to watch the trucks at all times.

"The women sort the potatoes at the "go-down" (market place). We bought 10 tons which is no more than a drop in the bucket of the potatoes required. Some were rejected as being too small. The chief (Shah) of the village thought that we were being ridiculous in refusing such wonderful "seebe Zameenee" which according to him were "khalee khoob ast" (very good). However, he was very gracious to us in offering his home, and all he had including his harem. I drank a cup of tea which was boiled. The Army is very strict regarding drinking water, all must be boiled."

What? No Telephones!

New Service

WE HAVE today on the waiting list for Maryland about 26,000 applications for home telephone service. Some of these are many months old.

The reason for this is a wartime shortage of telephone equipment, the manufacture of which, for civilian use, was practically suspended late in 1942.*

Plainly stated, the chances of filling an order depend on (1) the disconnections of present services which release facilities that are promptly reused; (2) the demands for war and essential civilian services which cannot wait.

While a considerable number of older applications will be filled during the year, it is not possible to predict when any given service can be installed. Until conditions change, the waiting period for those who apply now will be long.

But we promise this: No application will be forgotten and all will be filled in their proper turn as facilities permit.

If You Are Planning to Move

So far, it has been possible to move many services from one address to another within the same town, but it does not follow that we can do it in all cases, so we suggest you call our business office if you are planning to move and if your need for a telephone might affect your plans.

Extension Telephones

SOME, for whom we have moved service, have learned that we could not give them the extension telephone they had at their old address. This is because of the Government order—a fair one under the circumstances—that only one instrument may be connected in a home. The purpose is to spread the use of existing instruments at a time when new ones are not being made for civilian use.

SPEAKING for all telephone people, we don't like to say "No" or "We don't know when." We think we understand your disappointment when, moving into a new place, you find the previous tenant's instrument must be put back into the "pool" to fill an order ahead of yours, or when you ask how long you may have to wait, we are unable to tell you.

But, so long as fighting men have first claim on telephone equipment and until the manufacture of it for civilian use can be resumed, we will have to keep on as best we can.

Meanwhile, we genuinely appreciate the cooperation and understanding you have given us.

* The War Production Board has announced proposals for the manufacture of a limited number of telephones. However, it will be necessary to retool and install machinery for this purpose, so it will be quite some time before deliveries of new telephones can start, and shortages of switchboard and outside wire capacity will still remain.

Tells Of Train Trip

"The train is well made (German by the way) but it is in the European tradition, with compartments designed to hold from two to six people, depending upon the class of travel, first class being really sumptuous, even more luxurious than our pullmans. But, third class (where we traveled by the way) consists of hard wooden benches running crosswise in the train. We were not crowded, but we were not comfortable either. Second and first class carriages can be converted for sleeping. We too could sleep, but only stretched out on the hard benches.

"The better accommodations are given to those who travel the longest distances. For that reason, native soldiers and those of some of the other countries which have troops here rode in style, while we poor officers suffered the indignity of third class. But, we survived. The worst part of it was that we were not allowed to bring our bed roll and footlocker with us. They remained on the platform, marked as to our destination, with only our names to identify the various pieces, with no receipts given us, and only the promise of the dispatching officer that they would ever be returned to us.

"Just as we were about to start, here comes a soldier, a Pfc, mind you, with a whole retinue of native coolies bearing his luggage, one carried the soldier's cot and the T-frame for his mosquito net, another bore on his back what looked like an ice chest but was really the soldier's footlocker (complete with legs) a third carried his barracks bag, and a fourth bore his personal belongings. The American soldier himself carried only his rifle. He's been around before that boy. It takes travel to learn.

Strange Customs

"It was on the train that we got our first look at the Persian squatter, and it was really a treat. They do not have modern toilets such as ours and they scorn their use when one is offered them. Persian style is different. Four American nurses who rode the train got their first experience, and judging from the expressions on their faces it is evident that they were not pleased.

"The train stops frequently, for what reason I do not know, and it is no novelty to see a passenger hop off and make a deal for a sheep or a goat with someone standing outside, and then blithely bring his purchase aboard the train with him. We did not have to share our compartment with one of them, thankful. We crossed the desert coming here (that much I can tell you) and woke up (for I did manage to get a little sleep) in a town surrounded by snow-capped mountains. I had a sore back (I think I've hurt it again) and the trip in the truck from there to here pained me terribly."

135 Degrees In The Shade

"July 26th: I was compelled to enter the hospital which is very modern, well equipped and air conditioned, such being most desirable in view of the present temperature of 135 degrees in the shade. Sort of make the 95 degree you mentioned rather insignificant. My trip here was made by ambulance and railroad. The ambulance was made in England, and was a double decker with two lines of leather unholstered bunks, both top and bottom, and was equipped with all conveniences. The wounded men are being most efficiently treated and the extent and speed of the development of the medical care of the injured soldiers is astounding.

"I am in a room with two American aviators who were wounded over Germany, and a Russian captain, who is unable to speak or understand English, but knows Persian. I know more Persian than the doctor or nurses, and I act as his interpreter, now and then making a mistake in the kind of treatment desired such as thinking that he wished castor oil, but the captain quickly corrected that mistake castor oil tastes the same in all languages."

Had To Chase Natives

"Aug. 15, 1944—Today while buying potatoes, I went to a nearby village. If you have been over the back mountain road with Jane, I mean the real back mountain roads, you may have traveled over some like I traveled today. And if you have spied a collection of mud huts, enclosed in a mud fence; have seen donkeys, goats, sheep and oxen living in those huts; have seen dirty, half-naked children and young boys and girls playing (or washing) in a muddy stream in the middle of the road, then you have seen something like I saw this day. The children, the men and women who live in those huts must also be scabrous, filled with lice; have hair which falls out in patche; have eyes half shut with oozing pus; claw-like hands, arms like gnarled vines and teeth like vultures. Such is the back-country of Persia.

"I took a reconnaissance car and was followed by five trucks.

"I also had a sergeant with me, and both were armed with pistols. The natives were friendly as they could be, and we had our contractor with us who speaks fair English. However, the Military Police require that we go armed every time we leave the camp and go into the back country.

Hospitable Chief

"One of the principal reasons for the weapons is that most of the Iranii will pick up and otherwise take anything they can get their hands on or around. I believe there must be something in their religion which tells them that thieving is good, if you don't get caught at it. You cannot turn your back from your vehicle without finding it swarming with natives. We lost a radiator cap from under the hood to them this trip, and more would have followed had I not brandished the pistol to see them scamper away. Some one was left to watch the trucks at all times.

"The women sort the potatoes at the "go-down" (market place). We bought 10 tons which is no more than a drop in the bucket of the potatoes required. Some were rejected as being too small. The chief (Shah) of the village thought that we were being ridiculous in refusing such wonderful "seebe Zameenee" which according to him were "khalee khoob ast" (very good). However, he was very gracious to us in offering his home, and all he had including his harem. I drank a cup of tea which was boiled. The Army is very strict regarding drinking water, all must be boiled."

What? No Telephones!

New Service

WE HAVE today on the waiting list for Maryland about 26,000 applications for home telephone service. Some of these are many months old.

The reason for this is a wartime shortage of telephone equipment, the manufacture of which, for civilian use, was practically suspended late in 1942.*

Plainly stated, the chances of filling an order depend on (1) the disconnections of present services which release facilities that are promptly reused; (2) the demands for war and essential civilian services which cannot wait.

While a considerable number of older applications will be filled during the year, it is not possible to predict when any given service can be installed. Until conditions change, the waiting period for those who apply now will be long.

But we promise this: No application will be forgotten and all will be filled in their proper turn as facilities permit.

If You Are Planning to Move

So far, it has been possible to move many services from one address to another within the same town, but it does not follow that we can do it in all cases, so we suggest you call our business office if you are planning to move and if your need for a telephone might affect your plans.

Extension Telephones

SOME, for whom we have moved service, have learned that we could not give them the extension telephone they had at their old address. This is because of the Government order—a fair one under the circumstances—that only one instrument may be connected in a home. The purpose is to spread the use of existing instruments at a time when new ones are not being made for civilian use.

SPEAKING for all telephone people, we don't like to say "No" or "We don't know when." We think we understand your disappointment when, moving into a new place, you find the previous tenant's instrument must be put back into the "pool" to fill an order ahead of yours, or when you ask how long you may have to wait, we are unable to tell you.

But, so long as fighting men have first claim on telephone equipment and until the manufacture of it for civilian use can be resumed, we will have to keep on as best we can.

Meanwhile, we genuinely appreciate the cooperation and understanding you have given us.

* The War Production Board has announced proposals for the manufacture of a limited number of telephones. However, it will be necessary to retool and install machinery for this purpose, so it will be quite some time before deliveries of new telephones can start, and shortages of switchboard and outside wire capacity will still remain.

Story Of Founding Of Historic Emmitsburg, Maryland

The following was kindly furnished by Rev. McSweeney, for which accept thanks:

Mt. St. Mary's college is about fifty miles from Baltimore and is reached by the Western Maryland Railroad and the Emmitsburg branch that leaves the main line at Rocky Ridge; the college is situated at the foot of the eastern spur of Catoctin, the Blue Ridge mountains, which separate the valley of Hagerstown from the plain through which flows the Monocacy river. The spires of Gettysburg and the hills of the famous battlefield are visible from Indian Lookout and Carrick's Knob, the highest points of the mountain that shelters the college in the winter and overshadows it so gracefully on summer evenings. The celebrated mother house of the Sisters of Charity, founded by Madame Seton, is in the vicinity.

Ideal Location

The macadamized road running from Emmitsburg about two miles away to Frederick, passes the college. The quiet seclusion of the college, its freedom from distractions of cities and the reputation it enjoys from the great number of its distinguished graduates have turned towards it the attention of parents who are more than usually solicitous for the moral welfare and intellectual development of their children.

The college was founded in 1808 by Rev. John Dubois as a preparatory school for St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, lay students being afterward admitted, and the teaching partly done by the seminarians. Father Dubois enlarged the scope of the institution and established classes of philosophy and theology, so as to retain his assistant teachers as long as possible. This finally led to the organization of the college and seminary on a basis of entire independence, to be conducted by an association of priests under the jurisdiction and protection of the Archbishop of Baltimore; Cardinal Gibbons is one of the most zealous promoters of the welfare of the college, and has proved himself on more than one critical occasion its most prudent counsellor and practical friend.

The college has a charter from the state of Maryland, dating back to A.D. 1830, so that, after Georgetown, it is the oldest Catholic college in the United States. The college buildings were burned down on June 6th, 1824, but were immediately rebuilt; not, however, without incurring a very heavy debt, which was carried with comparative ease till the disastrous period of the Civil War, when the patrons of the college in the southern states, were forced to discontinue their aid. This soon brought on a crisis which was successfully met by the timely donations of the alumni, so that today its financial standing is second to that of no similar institution in the country.

Many improvements have been made during the last quarter of a century; the old buildings enlarged and brought up to date, a splendid gymnasium with swimming pool, and what is perhaps the most beautiful athletic field in the Union. At present a new and vast edifice is rising, which is intended for theological students. The roll for 1905 and 1906 is the largest known in the history of the college, there having been 250 lay students and 45 seminarians, while the graduates of 1906 were 15 in number.

Let's Not Let Down On The Home Front Until All Battlefronts Are Quiet

FIND OLD TONE IN CHRISTMAS GREETING CARD

1944's Christmas cards seem to have been designed with the idea of bringing a real home-town Christmas to the boys overseas. The "all out" martial themes that were so popular the first and second Christmases of the war have almost entirely disappeared, and this year many will be sending to absent sons and daughters Christmas cards that will bring them a welcome touch of the kind of Christmas they knew before the war began. A few military touches remain, but they are on the humorous side—for instance, the card depicting a sentry challenging Santa Claus with a "Who goes there?" But by far the greater number of this season's Christmas cards portray the old-fashioned American Christmas—the tree, the holly and the snow covered villages which might be any soldier's hometown.

Sentiment by Request

Greeting card manufacturers tell us that the reappearance of the truly traditional Christmas card is due to the express wishes of soldiers and sailors themselves who, in letters home, have told of their liking for remembrances that speak of the true Christmas in their designs and their sentiments. The result is that greeting card displays in local stores will be bright with Christmas tradition—church bells, plump Santa Clauses, carol-singing children in quaint costumes, and delicately flowered cards addressed "To My Sweetheart" and "To My Husband."

No Flag-Waving, Please

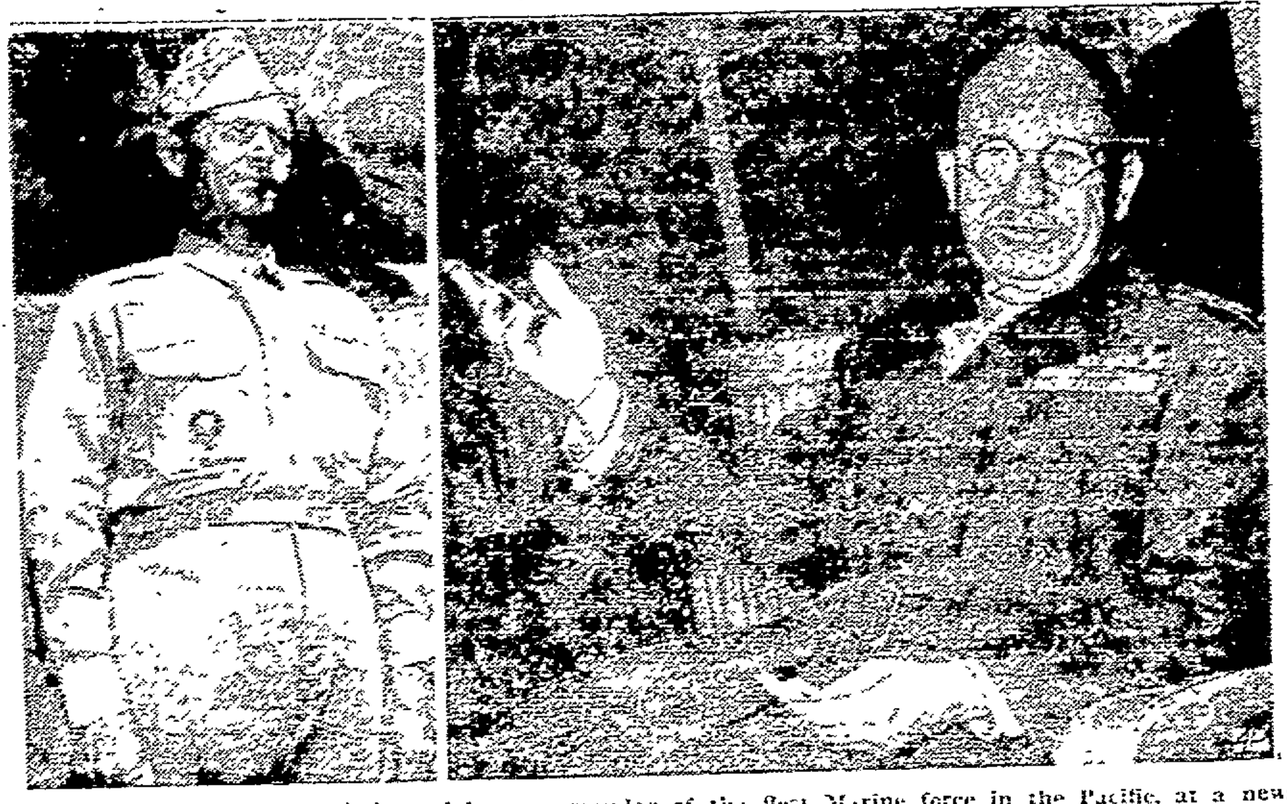
The boys and girls in service prefer to keep patriotism where it belongs—in their hearts and actions, rather than on Christmas cards, or in commercially developed verses that "miss the boat" in theme as well as effect. They have actually requested that the maudlin and rather "corny" flag-waving be skipped this year, in favor of the folksy more human-interest type of thing around which Christmas really revolves. There may be a few religious types of cards to be had.

Once again . . . the earlier your cards are mailed the better. Christmas can't come too early for the boys and girls overseas . . . but it can come too late to furnish that warm cheer so important to anyone from home, come December 25th!

MAN IS SCALDED

Butler, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Miles Mlimer, operator of a 15-ton swing crane at the Pullman Standard Car company plant, was injured seriously when the crane turned over and crashed into a wall Tuesday. Mlimer was scalded and another worker received lacerations of the skull.

Figures Involved In Saipan Command Change



Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith (right), commander of the fleet Marine force in the Pacific, at a news conference in Washington, D. C., reported that he was "forced" to relieve Army Maj. Gen. Ralph Smith (left), commander of Army forces, during the battle for Saipan. The photo on the left was taken of Maj. Gen. Smith during a review somewhere in the central Pacific about a year ago. New Finn - Red Terms Prepared

Stockholm, Sept. 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Hackzell of Finland is expected to return to Helsinki from Moscow within 24 hours, bearing Russian armistice terms, it was learned today.

An authoritative Finnish source said the terms would be presented to Parliament for approval, probably Wednesday.

Southern Finland, this Finn said, virtually is cleared of its three German divisions. A "big proportion" of the seven divisions in the north was reported evacuated toward Germany through southern Finnish ports. The informant declared, however, that it was impossible technically for all the German northern army to withdraw by the Sept. 15 deadline set by the Russians, thus placing upon the Finns the responsibility of disarming those remaining.

SONNENBERG DIES

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Gus Sonnenberg, 44, credited with introducing the "flying tackle" to professional wrestling, died Tuesday of leukemia at the Bethesda, Maryland, Naval hospital.

PENCILED NOTE FROM ENTOMBED MEN IS FOUND

Bellaire, Ohio, Sept. 14 (AP) — A note penciled by one of 66 coal miners trapped by fire in Powhatan pit last July 5 disclosed Wednesday how entombed men grew weaker, "but continued trusting in God" as deadly gas crept through the barrier they erected while awaiting rescue.

Crews working with oxygen masks came upon 47 bodies Tuesday night and brought out 4 of them Wednesday morning. A fifth body was recovered from another part of the mine several days ago.

The underground fire first was reported shortly before noon July 5 but miners were unable to control it. A section of the pit then was sealed to smother the flames. The 66 men were trapped behind the fire.

The note signed by Hi Harthne, 47-year-old miner whose given name was Dorsey, was written on a pad he usually carried. It read:

"July 5 4:10 p.m. Dirt stopping all erected. We were late as fresh air continued to come up C-north air course. Some men tried to go through 7-right to B-north but failed as entry was so badly fallen. Men have returned to room in 7-right and are resting. Some men show signs of CO (carbon monoxide). As they were pretty well fatigued. I have a slight headache myself.

5:30 p.m. Men are showing effect of CO. They feel weak. Sleepy-looking. Vision blurred. We are trusting in God, hoping for best.

"6:30 p.m. All men seemed to be going pretty good. We are resting. The air just (line unfinished)

"7:30 p.m. Air just about the same. All men trying to save their energy.

9 p.m. About the same time (The last line was blurred) (Signed) "Hi Harthne."

The human skull has 22 bones.

Seek 'Most' From War Effort Says FDR

Quebec, Sept. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt made known Wednesday that his conference with Prime Minister Churchill at [illegible] was designed "to get the best we can out of the combined British and United States war effort" in Europe and in the Pacific.

The President's words were read to reporters by Stephen Early, his press secretary, who said they were supplied in response to inquiries about China's possible part in the meeting. The text:

"This is a conference to get the best we can out of the combined British and United States war efforts in the Pacific and in Europe. We are working in consonance with the situation in China, the Pacific and in Europe, coordinating our efforts with those of our Allies, particularly the Chinese and the Russians."

903 Polio Cases In 60 Counties

Harrisburg, Sept. 14 (AP)—Total cases of infantile paralysis in Pennsylvania passed the 900 mark as the State Health department reported 903 cases in 60 of the state's 67 counties.

One death occurred in Harrisburg Tuesday when 14-year-old Frederick Dasher succumbed in an iron lung after being stricken last Saturday.

There were 48 new cases listed by Health department officials, 28 in Philadelphia and 20 in nine other counties.

Woman Killed In Highway Crash

New Castle, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP) — Mrs. Olive Altman was killed and her husband, John A. Altman, seriously injured Tuesday night in collision of their automobile with a gasoline truck on a slippery highway.

State police said the driver of the truck, Howard D. Whitehill of Bradford, swerved to avoid the accident but his trailer jack-knifed and crushed the Altman car. The truck was operated for C. M. Marshall of Rouseville, police said.

The Altman's granddaughter, Jacqueline Freshkorn, 17, escaped injury.

Calls On Lewis To Support Charge

Cincinnati, Sept. 14 (AP) — Ray Edmundson, leader of the autonomy forces in the United Mine Workers, demanded Wednesday that John L. Lewis substantiate his statement that supporters of Roosevelt administration were financing the autonomy movement.

"As an honorable man," Edmundson said in a statement, "and under good sportsmanship, he is under obligation to the convention to present documentary evidence to support his charges. If he doesn't, I will file charges of slander under his own law. That was a pure lie. My books are open, and anybody can look at them."

Edmundson, a former Lewis lieutenant and now a candidate for the UMW constitution providing that any member guilty of slandering or circulating false statements about another member shall, upon conviction, be suspended from membership for six months. Edmundson said he would file the charges with the international executive board after the convention unless Lewis documented his charge.

FIND OLD TONE IN CHRISTMAS GREETING CARD

1944's Christmas cards seem to have been designed with the idea of bringing a real home-town Christmas to the boys overseas. The "all out" martial themes that were so popular the first and second Christmases of the war have almost entirely disappeared, and this year many will be sending to absent sons and daughters Christmas cards that will bring them a welcome touch of the kind of Christmas they knew before the war began. A few military touches remain, but they are on the humorous side—for instance, the card depicting a sentry challenging Santa Claus with a "Who goes there?" But by far the greater number of this season's Christmas cards portray the old-fashioned American Christmas—the tree, the holly and the snow covered villages which might be any soldier's hometown.

Sentiment by Request

Greeting card manufacturers tell us that the reappearance of the truly traditional Christmas card is due to the express wishes of soldiers and sailors themselves who, in letters home, have told of their liking for remembrances that speak of the true Christmas in their designs and their sentiments. The result is that greeting card displays in local stores will be bright with Christmas tradition—church bells, plump Santa Clauses, carol-singing children in quaint costumes, and delicately flowered cards addressed "To My Sweetheart" and "To My Husband."

No Flag-Waving, Please

The boys and girls in service prefer to keep patriotism where it belongs—in their hearts and actions, rather than on Christmas cards, or in commercially developed verses that "miss the boat" in theme as well as effect. They have actually requested that the maudlin and rather "corny" flag-waving be skipped this year, in favor of the folksy more human-interest type of thing around which Christmas really revolves. There may be a few religious types of cards to be had.

Once again . . . the earlier your cards are mailed the better. Christmas can't come too early for the boys and girls overseas . . . but it can come too late to furnish that warm cheer so important to anyone from home, come December 25th!

MAN IS SCALDED

Butler, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Miles Milmer, operator of a 15-ton swing crane at the Pullman Standard Car company plant, was injured seriously when the crane turned over and crashed into a wall Tuesday. Milmer was scalded and another worker received lacerations of the skull.

New Finn - Red Terms Prepared

Stockholm, Sept. 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Hackzell of Finland is expected to return to Helsinki from Moscow within 24 hours, bearing Russian armistice terms, it was learned today.

An authoritative Finnish source said the terms would be presented to Parliament for approval, problearned Wednesday.

Southern Finland, this Finn said, virtually is cleared of its three German divisions. A "big proportion" of the seven divisions in the north was reported evacuated toward Germany through southern Finnish ports. The informant declared, however, that it was impossible technically for all the German northern army to withdraw by the Sept. 15 deadline set by the Russians, thus placing upon the Finns the responsibility of disarming those remaining.

SONNENBERG DIES

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Gus Sonnenberg, 44, credited with introducing the "flying tackle" to professional wrestling, died Tuesday of leukemia at the Bethesda, Maryland, Naval hospital.

PENCILED NOTE FROM ENTOMBED MEN IS FOUND

Bellaire, Ohia, Sept. 14 (AP) — A note penciled by one of 66 coal miners trapped by fire in Powhatan pit last July 5 disclosed Wednesday how entombed men grew weaker, but continued "trusting in God" as deadly gas seeped through the barricade they erected while awaiting rescue.

Crews working with oxygen masks came upon 47 bodies Tuesday night and brought out 4 of them Wednesday morning. A fifth body was recovered from another part of the mine several days ago.

The underground fire first was reported shortly before noon July 5 but miners were unable to control it. A section of the pit then was sealed to smother the flames. The 66 men were trapped behind the fire.

The note signed by Hi Hartline, a 47-year-old miner whose given name was Dorsey, was written on a pad he usually carried. It read:

"July 5, 4:40 p. m. Dirt stopping all erected. We were late as fresh air continued to come up C-north air course. Some men tried to go through 7-right to B-north but failed as entry was so badly fallen. Men have returned to room in 7-right and are resting. Some men show signs of CO (carbon monoxide). As they were pretty well fatigued. I have a slight headache myself.

"5:30 p. m. Men are showing effect of CO. They feel weak. Sleepy-looking. Vision blurred. We are trusting in God, hoping for best.

"6:30 p. m. All men seemed to be going pretty good. We are resting. The air just (line unfinished).

"7:30 p. m. Air just about the same. All men trying to save their energy.

9 p. m. About the same same. (The last line was blurred).

Signed) "Hi Hartline."

Seek 'Most' From War Effort Says FDR

Quebec, Sept. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt made known Wednesday that his conference with Prime Minister Churchill and military advisers was designed "to get the best we can out of the combined British and United States war effort" in Europe and in the Pacific.

The President's words were read to reporters by Stephen Early, his press secretary, who said they were supplied in response to inquiries about China's possible part in the meeting. The text:

"This is a conference to get the best we can out of the combined British and United States war efforts in the Pacific and in Europe. We are working in consonance with the situation in China, the Pacific and in Europe, coordinating our efforts with those of our Allies, particularly the Chinese and the Russians.

903 Polio Cases In 60 Counties

Harrisburg, Sept. 14 (AP)—Total cases of infantile paralysis in Pennsylvania passed the 900 mark as the State Health department reported 903 cases in 60 of the state's 67 counties.

One death occurred in Harrisburg Tuesday when 14-year-old Frederick Dasher succumbed in an iron lung after being stricken last Saturday.

There were 48 new cases listed by Health department officials, 28 in Philadelphia and 20 in nine other counties.

Woman Killed In Highway Crash

New Castle, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP) — Mrs. Olive Altman was killed and her husband, John A. Altman, seriously injured Tuesday night in collision of their automobile with a gasoline truck on a slippery highway.

State police said the driver of the truck, Howard D. Whitehill of Bradford, swerved to avoid the accident but his trailer jack-knifed and crushed the Altman car. The truck was operated for C. M. Marshall of Rouseville, police said.

The Altman's granddaughter, Jacqueline Freshkorn, 17, escaped injury.

Calls On Lewis To Support Charge

Cincinnati, Sept. 14 (AP) — Ray Edmundson, leader of the autonomy forces in the United Mine Workers, demanded Wednesday that John L. that supporters of Roosevelt administration were financing the autonomy movement.

"As an honorable man," Edmundson said in a statement, "and under good sportsmanship, he is under obligation to the convention to present documentary evidence to support his charges. If he doesn't, I will file charges of slander under his own law. That was a pure lie. My books are open, and anybody can look at them."

Edmundson, a former Lewis lieutenant and now a candidate for Lewis substantiate his statement the UMW constitution providing that any member guilty of slandering or circulating false statements about another member shall, upon conviction, be suspended from membership for six months. Edmundson said he would file the charges with the international executive board after the convention unless Lewis documented his charge.

OCTOBER 15 IS LAST DATE FOR XMAS MAILING

Christmas packages may be mailed to American soldiers serving overseas, without presentation of a request from the soldier, during the period from September 15 to October 15, 1944, which has been designated as Christmas Mailing Month for soldiers overseas. Christmas cards must also be mailed during this period and the War Department advises that Christmas greeting cards be sent in sealed envelopes and prepaid at the first-class rate.

Size and Weight

Christmas gift packages will be accepted for mailing only within the present limitations of weight and size—five pounds in weight, 15 inches in length and 36 inches in length and girth combined.

Christmas packages mailed within this period should bear the indorsement, "Christmas Parcel." Only one such package will be accepted for mailing by or on behalf of the same addressee during any one week.

Under the relaxation of the overseas mail restrictions during this period, it will not be necessary for the mailer to present either a request or an envelope bearing an APO cancellation at the time of mailing. Perishable articles will not be accepted for mailing, and every effort will be made to discourage the sending of fragile articles.

Because of the great distance this mail must be transported and the handling and storage it must undergo, it is essential that all articles be securely packed in sturdy containers and reinforced with gummed paper tape or tied with strong twine, or both. It is highly desirable that all boxes be securely wrapped in heavy paper. Boxes without outer wrapping often become crushed or split, allowing contents to escape. Furthermore, as each parcel is subject to censorship, delay in handling may be minimized by securing the covering of the parcel so as to permit ready inspection of the contents.

Pack Tightly

When combination packages are made up, including miscellaneous toilet articles, hard candies, soap, etc., these should be tightly packed in order that the several articles may not be loosened in transit. Christmas boxes should be enclosed in substantial containers. Hard candies, nuts, caramels, fruit cake and chocolate bars individually wrapped in waxed paper, should be individually enclosed in inner cartons or boxes. Soft candies, whether home-made or commercial, do not carry well. Sealed packages of candy, cigars, tobacco and toilet articles in simplest mercantile form may be placed in parcels without affecting parcel-post classification of such packages. Sharp-pointed or edged instruments, such as razors, knives, etc., must have points protected so they cannot cut through their coverings and damage mail or injure postal employes.

Brownsville, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Injuries received when he fell 40 feet from a tipple at the Vesta No. 4 mine of Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation Tuesday resulted in the death in Brownsville hospital of Stephen V. Arovits, 26, of Pittsburgh.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

OCTOBER 15 IS LAST DATE FOR XMAS MAILING

Christmas packages may be mailed to American soldiers serving overseas, without presentation of a request from the soldier, during the period from September 15 to October 15, 1944, which has been designated as Christmas Mailing Month for soldiers overseas. Christmas cards must also be mailed during this period and the War Department advises that Christmas greeting cards be sent in sealed envelopes and prepaid at the first-class rate.

Size and Weight

Christmas gift packages will be accepted for mailing only within the present limitations of weight and size—five pounds in weight, 15 inches in length and 36 inches in length and girth combined.

Christmas packages mailed within this period should bear the indorsement, "Christmas Parcel." Only one such package will be accepted for mailing by or on behalf of the same addressee during any one week.

Under the relaxation of the overseas mail restrictions during this period, it will not be necessary for the mailer to present either a request or an envelope bearing an APO cancellation at the time of mailing. Perishable articles will not be accepted for mailing, and every effort will be made to discourage the sending of fragile articles.

Because of the great distance this mail must be transported and the handling and storage it must undergo, it is essential that all articles be securely packed in sturdy containers and reinforced with gummed paper tape or tied with strong twine, or both. It is highly desirable that all boxes be securely wrapped in heavy paper. Boxes without outer wrapping often become crushed or split, allowing contents to escape. Furthermore, as each parcel is subject to censorship, delay in handling may be minimized by securing the covering of the parcel so as to permit ready inspection of the contents.

Pack Tightly

When combination packages are made up, including miscellaneous toilet articles, hard candies, soap, etc., these should be tightly packed in order that the several articles may not be loosened in transit. Christmas boxes should be enclosed in substantial containers. Hard candies, nuts, caramels, fruit cake and chocolate bars individually wrapped in waxed paper, should be individually enclosed in inner cartons or boxes. Soft candies, whether home-made or commercial, do not carry well. Sealed packages of candy, cigars, tobacco and toilet articles in simplest mercantile form may be placed in parcels without affecting parcel-post classification of such packages. Sharp-pointed or edged instruments, such as razors, knives, etc., must have points protected so they cannot cut through their coverings and damage mail or injure postal employes.

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
